REPUBLICAN NATIONAL TICKET

FOR PRESIDENT,
JAMES A. GARFIELD,
OF OHIO.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
CHESTER A. ARTHUR,
OF NEW YORK.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT,

EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

THE Allegheny County Commissioners have paid out $2,405,000 in settlement of damages arising from the riot in 1877.

BAD harvest weather is again being experienced in some parts of England, and the crops will suffer correspondingly.

ASPIRANTS for military life and glory now have an opportunity as candidates for West Point are to be selected again this fall.

THE Tilden flavor at the recent Democratic meeting at New York seems to have been too strong for John Kelly's stomach.

THE recent rains will be worth some millions of dollars to the growing corn crops which were just beginning to suffer from the prolonged dry weather.

IT will probably be a great relief to Dr. Tanner when he gets through the few remaining days of his fast. It will still be a greater relief to the public to have done with him.

THE dangerous illness of Premier Gladstone will cause serious concern on both sides of the Atlantic. As he is the most conspicuous figure in English politics, his loss would be a national calamity.

THE fact that we have a Nation and the prosperity now attending it; is due to the Republican party. The people remember this and will pass their judgment next November in a way that will show their loyalty and good judgment.

THUS far Memphis has been spared a visitation of that terrible scourge yellow fever. The city is reported to be in a clean and healthy condition, and it is to be hoped that it may this year escape the calamity which has so frequently befallen it.

THE Pittsburgh Post crows over the election in Alabama, a State which the Bourbons have carried by fraud and violence since 1874, and a State in which the Republican party has been suppressed by violence. The rooster should have been perched upon a shot-gun.

MURAT HALSTEAD is on the war path. He maintains, in a letter to the New York Herald, that English's nomination was a piece of wrong on the part of Tilden, aimed at Hendricks, and predicts that the Democrats will lose Indiana. His letter is not very comfortable reading for the Democrats.

IT is about time that the disgrace attaching to the sale of bogus medical diplomas abroad, by the American University of Philadelphia, should cease. Secretary Evarts has directed the attention of Governor Hoyt to the fact that a Spaniard who swears he never was in the United States has one of these diplomas.

THE New York World printed all of Wade Hampton's speech at Staunton, Virginia, except the declaration that the principles now contented for by the Democratic party "are the same for which Lee and Jackson fought for four years." It is well to leave the "poison" out of southern speeches intended for northern consumption.

Can the True Patriot Vote the Democratic Ticket?

Every patriot should ask himself this question, "Can I as a true patriot, desiring only the good of my country, vote the Democratic ticket? Can I conscientiously act with the Democratic party?" They will indeed find there are not a few men who think as they do; but with them they will find closely allied in party interest all those elements to whom our national obligations are the football of momentary advantage. They will find on that side every State that repudiated, or speaks of repudiating, its public debt. They will find there all those who descried the public creditor as the public enemy, and whom no loyal tradition and impulse attaches to the national honor. They will find there a party inside of which the public faith has still to fight a battle with its enemies without any certainty of its issues. Is that their place? Or should they go to the Republican side where the loyal maintenance of our public faith has become a fundamental principle, universally adhered to with unswerving fidelity in spite of the gusto of adverse public sentiment in former years. And those who desire the administrative business of the government performed in a business like way by honest and capable public servants, where will they go? Will they go to the Democratic party, which has no other reform idea than an eager desire to take the whole administrative machinery of the government suddenly to pieces and to fill it as rapidly as possible with politicians demanding office as spoils? Or will they go to the Republican side where they have the assurance of a civil service which, in spite of shortcomings and mistakes, has already on the whole proved itself capable to transact our business honestly and efficiently, and where they will find all those elements that are faithfully and energetically working for a more thorough and permanent reform?

The country has returned to peace and prosperity under the wise administration of the Republican party; and the people cannot afford now to trust the affairs of the Nation to the hands of that party which attempted to destroy its life. James A. Garfield represents the party of progress and loyalty, therefore every patriot should vote for him. And further: he understands the wants of the producing classes, for in youth he was a poor boy and lived by his daily labor. He rose up from that state by his own efforts, taking with him the experience of poverty and hard work and a living sympathy with the poor and hard-working man. He cultivated his mind by diligent study, and stored it with useful knowledge. From the two paths to the Senate of the United States he has been acquiring knowledge and experience, until he understands the great problems of politics, for he has studied them and actively participated in their discussion and solution. Few men in this country would enter the Presidential office, with its great duties or responsibilities, better or even as well equipped with knowledge and experience. He need only be true to his record in order to become a wise, safe and successful President. His services rendered in the past are just of that nature which will give assurance of his ability to render greater service in the future. The country wants a statesman of ability, knowledge, experience and principle at the head of affairs. His conduct as a legislator gives ample guarantee of great promise in all these things. And for all these reasons, in our opinion, the interests of the Republic demand the election of James A. Garfield to the Presidency of the United States.

THE publisher of a humorous German paper at San Francisco committed suicide the other day. The humorous journalists of the English press do not seem to have so clear an idea of their duties to the public.

"Much Ado about Nothing."

Our neighbor, the Democrat, under the above caption wriggles very much in order to relieve its special factional adherents from the very embarrassing position in which the records of the court placed them. It does not pretend to give the true record of the decree as it appeared in the Prothonotary's office Tuesday afternoon, the 27th ult., which purported to make the appointments. In answer to our charges of fact it lashes itself into somewhat of a fury and endeavors to call some persons names. If the facts are not as set forth in the REPUBLICAN of last week, why does not the Democrat, or in other words the Nemesis of the Democratic party, publish an exact copy of the decree as it was on file in the prothonotary's office on July 27th?

The Democrat says "the endorsement upon the back of the petition was placed there as is customary by the attorney in charge of it." Now if that fact be true, will the Democrat please explain why the attorney in charge of it would, on presenting a petition to the Judge of the court on the street, on the 27th of July, endorse a decree thereon making the appointment asked for, and date it July 24, three days prior to the presentation of the petition to the Judge? This is a peculiar practice indeed on the part of an attorney, and without precedent known at least in the court.

We are not yet persuaded that the record of the court did not on Tuesday, the 27th ult., show the appointment as set forth in last week's REPUBLICAN, and any personal abuse and general denial on the part of the "Nemesis of the Democratic party" will not change that record.

Nor will the simple denial of the Democrat, under much ado about nothing, cover up the attempt to smuggle through the court a political appointment contrary to law.

Read and Reflect.

The Democratic party urges upon the country at this time the necessity for a change of parties in power. They assert, and expect the voters to believe them, that the policy of the Republican party has been detrimental to the best interests of the people; that its ideas of goverment are unconstitutional, and if continued four years longer, in spite of the present prosperity, will plunge us into distress. But before we decide that Democracy is right, and that our present prosperity is all a sham and a delusion, let us look in the Democratic camp and see what they propose to do by way of change, what policy they intend to pursue if rewarded with the national confidence. So far their policy is one not for the public good. The welfare of our industries and the means to continue their growth enters not into their calculations. Their free-trade plank is meant to cripple these. Their policy is simply one of hatred and jealousy of the Republican party, and the only argument upon which they base their claims are founded upon slander. When asked their policy upon the tariff they answer, "Credit Mobilier;" upon the finances, "DeGolyer;" payment of public debt and reduction of taxation, "Credit Mobilier." Upon these two falsehoods they expect to win public favor. It is about them that all their campaign documents are written. Resolutions passed at their meetings are about them, and in fact their entire campaign is given up to the circulation of the "DeGolyer" and "Credit Mobilier" slanders. We have no assurance of prosperity under Democratic rule. We have, on the contrary, the best evidence in the world of their unfitness to govern, and we know their policy would be one of experiment and not of certainty. We believe the voters, after consulting their interests, will not hesitate to vote for Garfield and Arthur.

General Weaver, in his recent Southern tour, was a close observer of Democratic methods. He said recently that "the half has not been told of the stories of the bulldozing and fraud in the South." Perhaps he was not actually bulldozed; but he made the assertion from his own experience.

There assembled in New York a few days ago the largest number of prominent Republicans, except in National convention, ever known in the history of the party. Our candidates were there, to become better acquainted with the gentlemen to whom the management of the campaign has been confined. The object of the meeting is well known, and as it is the first of the kind, and for the purpose, ever held in the party, it shows that our leaders are more in earnest than ever before; that more than ever they recognize the necessity for the continuation of the Republican party in power, and will make the campaign a thorough one.

SENATOR Z. B. VANCE, the vulgar Democratic orator of North Carolina, is on the stump in Virginia, trying to heal the breach between the two wings of the Democracy, and in the report of his speech in Stanton we find the following passage:

"Gentlemen, this Republican party 'reconstructed North Carolina with a vengeance. They were going to build railroads and schools and churches; they were going to revolutionize agriculture; they were going to do away with our old-fashioned bull-tongusd ploughs that were pulled by one eyed mules and put in their places sulky ploughs with seats for the driver who could wear his Sunday clothes then during week-a days as well as on the Sabbath; they were going to give us reapers and mowers and patent dog churns and hen persuaders. All this they were going to do for poor sleepy old Rip Van Winkle tar-heel North Carolina."

This was part of Vance's enumeration of Republican wrongs put upon the South. He charged a great many other things—that the Republicans were thieves, and stole everything they could lay their hands on—but a description of their plans to improve North Carolina, to change the methods of agriculture, get better machinery, and build public schools, seemed to him among the strongest attacks he could make upon them. And doubtless the Democracy gathered at Staunton thought so, too. Such "reconstruction" appeared to them an outrage of the worst kind. It is well enough for Northern people to understand what kind of refined civilization the country would enjoy if the Southern statesmen, such as Zeb Vance should again become its ruling class They would "reconstruct" the country indeed.

A LINE of British steamers has recently been established between Bahia and the United States. The United States consul at Para, Brazil, thinks that the Americans ought to have the carrying of this trade, which is large. He is also of the opinion that there is an excellent opportunity to establish a line of steamers between New York and the Amazon valley, and remarks that it is currently reported that the citizens o Manaos, a city of some 8,000 inhabitants, about 800 miles from Para, on the Rio Negro, near its junction with the Amazon, are desirous of establishing direct trade with the United States, and are willing to grant a liberal subsidy in aid of the enterprise.

THE iron trade is in a very satisfactory condition. The mills are experiencing a good demand for iron at prices which, while they yield the manufacturers only moderate profits, promise a more permanent prosperity than figures which force consumers to contract their purchases and also bring in increased foreign supplies. It is to be hoped that the present state of the iron trade may continue for a long time.

THE people know by the twenty years that are just past what to expect if Gen. Garfield should be elected, but if Hancock gets there no man knows what disaster will follow. The people are not ready to experiment with a party that has such an unsavory record as the Democratic party.

Yes, a Pauper Can Vote.

HOWARD, Pa., August 9.

Mr. Editor: I have a question to ask for the benefit of the voters of this county. Has an assessor the right to strike a pauper's name from his books, or has a pauper a right to vote? The people in some parts of the county believe they have no right to exercise the elective franchise. Now the election law says "an inmate of a poorhouse or a prison shall not lose his residence." This being so, and no law taking away this privilege which every American citizen is born to, I would like to know why a pauper has not the right to vote. I assert he has, but here in this neighborhood one of the assessors, the initials of whose name is J. N. Hall, a Democrat, of course (no Republican would resort to such methods to carry elections by fraud), has refused to place the name of a Republican on the registration because he is a pauper and because he claims he has no right to vote. When men are elected to office they should try to become acquainted with the law, or at least do as much as read the Constitution of the United States, wherein he will find that all male citizens of the United States over twenty-one years of age have the right to vote. I believe in being honest and fair to all parties. Had this poor man been a Democrat, this Democratic assessor would not have been so blind to the law. The name would have gone on even if he had had to shut his eyes to glaring wrong. Democrats are not as honest as they might be but are always ready to play the rogue whenever they get a chance.

JACK.

[A pauper has a right to vote, and no Democratic assessor can deprive him of it. Our friends at Howard must see that justice is done.—ED.]

THE Post finds it convenient to touch none of the aspects of the tariff question as they exist at present, and to confine itself to the discussion of measures which are wholly matters of the past. Its persistent ignoring of the present status of the question cannot, however, conceal from the public the three vital points of the tariff issue: First, bills for the reduction of the tariff on a large number of manufactured articles are now pending in Congress, which were introduced by Democrats and are supported by a majority of the Democrats in the House; second, that Gen. Garfield was the leader of the opposition to the measures, and now stands as the chief representative of the protective party; third, that Gen. Hancock stands on the platform of "a tariff for revenue only," and has endorsed the platform in his letter of acceptance. All of which means in short that a vote for Gen. Hancock is a vote for free trade, and one for Garfield is in favor of retaining the present tariff as it is. There can be little question as to how the people of Pennsylvania will stand on this issue.—Com.

THE State Treasurer, Mr. Butler, now announces his readiness to pay all school warrants for the year just closed, June 1, 1880. The payment of these warrants in all the counties will clear up the school fund arrears completely, and Mr. Butler thinks there need be no delay in paying the warrants for the year just begun. According to the practice of the Department of Education, these will be made out upon receipt of the school district reports, and they are payable any time after the school year begins. Mr. Butler will doubtless be ready to meet them in a few weeks, so that the Commonwealth need no longer be discredited by delay in this particular.

$804,000,000 of the National debt has been paid off since the process of payment began in August, 1865. If, during the remainder of this year our revenues continue to yield such surpluses as they have been doing, the close of the year will probably see one third of the original debt paid off. All this has been done under a Republican administration, and during the time the Republicans controlled Congress they took of $364,000,000 of taxes. During the six years the Democrats have controlled the National House of Representatives they have reduced the taxes nine millions of dollars by reducing the tax on whiskey and tobacco. During this time the Republican administration has reduced the annual interest charge about one-half. Thinking citizens will meditate over these figures, and conclude that it will be the safest plan to continue the Republican party in the management of the National finances.

Put Up or Shut Up.

The following proposals are respectfully submitted to those enthusiastic supporters of Hancock who claim their man will make a clean sweep:

PITTSBURGH, August 4.— During my stay of a few days in your city I have frequently heard a number of Democrats boast that they will elect their man; next, that they will carry New York; that Pennsylvania is doubtful, etc. As I intend to risk something on the result, I will offer the following wager, and hope some of the unterrified will take me up:

First, I will bet $5,000 that Pennsylvania will give Garfield 20,000 majority.

Second, $5,000 that New York will give Garfield 5,000 majority.

Third, $15,000 that Garfield will be elected.

These amounts can be raised if desired. These bets must be taken by one individual, or by one individual representing a party—that is, there must be only two representatives to the transaction—myself and the taker.

Any one wishing to accept can find man and money both ready by addressing or calling on, from August 20th to 25th inclusive,

JOHN W. GOODMAN,
Seventh Avenue Hotel.

WHEN the Republicans controlled the National House of Representatives Hon. William R. Morrison, one of the leading Democrats from Illinois, put in the sketch of his life in the Congressional Directory that he was badly wounded during the rebellion while Colonel of an Illinois Regiment. When the Democrats obtained control he had his whole soldier record wiped from the Directory. He didn't want to hurt the feelings of the Southern members who were careful to have their whole record in the rebel army put in the Directory.

THE Republicans of South Carolina have determined to run a State ticket, and a convention has been called to meet September 2, to nominate candidates. The order of the Democratic leaders against bulldozing has evidently given fresh courage to the Republicans. It is well enough to make a fight, but so long as the Bourbons have the counting machinery in their control the Republican majority will never be utilized.

GEN. GARFIELD'S journey from his Ohio home to New York was a grand ovation. He was everywhere greeted by large assemblages of people, and had he been permitted to speak out on the political issues of the day, he would have started a boom that could not have been checked until his election.

THAT loathsome disease, small-pox, is alarming the people of Camden, where it ravages are said to be rapidly spreading. Forty cases have been reported to the authorities within the past week. It is to be hoped this virulent plague may not be permitted to cross the Delaware.

WHAT does this chorus of snarling, which has broken out in the Democratic camp, mean? If the brethren are as confident of success as they claim to be, what are they so unhappy about? The Republicans are not only serene, they are even jocular. It's a queer world!

THE way in which the tide is setting is plainly observed by the Canonsburg Rural Notes, which keen-sighted little journal transfers its allegiance from Hancock to Garfield this week.

Poetry.

At Evening.

Upon the hills the wind is sharp and cold,
The sweet young grasses wither on the wold,
And we, oh Lord, have wandered from thy fold;
But evening brings us home.

Among the mists we stumbled, and the rocks,
Where the brown lichen whitens, and the fox
Watches the straggler from the scattered flocks;
But evening brings us home.

The sharp thorns prick us, and our tender feet
Are cut and bleeding, and the lambs repeat
Their pitiful complaints—oh, rest is sweet,
When evening brings us home.

We have been wounded by the hunter's darts,
Our eyes are very heavy, and our hearts
Search for thy coming—when the light departs,
At evening, bring us home.

The darkness gathers. Through the gloom no star
Rises to guide us. We have wandered far.
Without thy lamp we know not where we are—
At evening brings us home.

The clouds are round us, and the snow-drifts thicken.
Oh, thou dear Shepherd, leave us not to sicken
In the waste night—our tardy footsteps quicken.
At evening bring us home.

Best After All.

"But tell me dear," she said,
And coaxingly the dark eyes shone,
And shyly dropped the modest head,
Beside his own—
"But tell me, have you loved before?
Or one, or more?"

The eager, sparkling face
Was full of tender, touching grace.
She did not fear his answer then,
Her kind of men!
"But tell me, dear, the best and worst,
Or am I first?"

He turned his eyes away,
Yet closer still her hand he pressed,
Nor answered yea or nay
A blush confessed
All, in one burning word,
Unsaid, unheard.

Quick came a burst of tears,
A tempest storm from April sky,
And then, "Forgive my doubts and fears,"
He heard her sigh,
"Why should I care what loves are past,
So mine is last?"

NASBY.

The Corners Become Tremendously Agitated.

CONFEDRIT X ROADS,
wich is in the State uv Kentucy,
July 20, 1880.

The Corners is in a blaze of eggscitement. In the Looisville papers, wich wuz receeved here last week, there cum an account uv a Confedrit soljer, wich, ez soon ez he heerd uv the nominashen uv Hancock, and fully bleevin in his eleckshun, immejitly filed his petishon for a penshun.

The Confedrit stated boldly in his applicashen that he had never bin in the servis uv the Yoonited States, but that he hed served four years in the Confedrit, and bleeved that he wuz entitled to a penshun the same ez tho he hed worn the bloo instid uv the gray.

In less than a minit there wuz the wildest eggscitement the Corners hez seen sense the surrender of Lee. The citizens gathered about Bascom's by the hundred, and there wuz but one opinyun about it.

Ef the crooel war is reely over,' sed Capt. McPelter, 'and the era of good feelin is reely goin to be inoggerated by the eleckshun of Hancock, why continyoo these worn-out distinkshuns? Ef we understand the posishen uv the Dimocrisy, the late onpleasantnis wuz merely a difference of opinyun between the two seckshuns, wich led to armies and sich. But ez neither side wuz conkered, and ez the war meant nothin at all, all traces uv it shood be immejitly obliteratid. Ez men uv the North took up arms, the country pays them penshuns. Now what I want to know is why men from the South wich took up arms shood not be paid penshuns likewise? We both felt for our neshuns, and both wuz ekally meritorious. It is the dooty uv a reunited country to cement fraternal feelin, and how kin it be done ez well ez payin both sides penshuns?'

The speech wuz reseved with more applause than eny speech I hev heered for years, and immejitly it was resolved that every man in the Corners which hed served in the Confederit armies shood towunt file this clame so as to git it early.

The wus a rush like that uv a circus wagon. Every sitizen of the Corners hed immejitly a strong recollecshun of havin' ben in the Confedrit servis, incloodin something like fifty wich hed sekcored pensions alreddy for servisses in the Fedrel army.

Beekin Pogram filed a petishun settin forth that while he wus never reglerlie enlisted in the Confedrit servis he had contractid a severe roomatism bushwackin Fedrel pickits durin Garfield's invasun of the sakred soil, and wus entitled to a pensun on that score.

Issaker Gavitt set forth that while he hed not shouldered his muskit in the feeld, he spent six months in Injeany assistin the Knights of the Golden Cirkle in resistin drafts and sich, and in votin the Dimocratic tiket, wich wus of servis to the Confederacy than as tho he hed reglarly enlisted.

I put in mi clame for 3 months' servis with the Loosianer Pelikins, wich indulged in more foot races than eny regimint in the Confederacy, and also for organizin draft riots in Ohio.

Bascom clamed a pensun on the score of keepin his bar open late at nite for the refreshment of Deekin Pogram and others on their return from bushwakin.

Mahlon Pettus hed actilly served with Forrest, and partissipated in the massicre at Fort Piller. To prove it he hed the thigh bone of a nigger sojer.

All the sitizens of the Corners, with the excepshun of Pollock and Joe Bigler, rushed in, and tha came so fast it was impocibal to toke their names.

To siplefi the matter, Bascom sejested that a commite be apointed to file the clames, and that this commite shood copy the tax list and forred all the names onto it as entitled to pensuns.

There was immejit dissent from this, for ther wus only ten or a duzen names on the tax list, and they wus mostly radicles.

Here mi genius shone out.

'We will not yoose the tax list,' sed I, 'but rather the poll-sheet uv the last eleckshun. All that we permitted to vote in this precinct may justly clame to be Confedrits, and we shel git all wich is really entitled to considerashun.'

This sejestion wuz adopted, and I am bizzy makin out the applicashens.

Two onpleasantnisis okkurred. Sam Pettibone cum up to be enrolled for his penshun, and showed that he hed served in the 10th Alabama. I wuz a puttin him down when Issaker Gavitt interfered.

'Sam, you can't play that onto me,' said Issaker. 'You did enlist in the 10th Alabama, but you desertid. Ez much ez I want to bring cattle to the Corners the Yoonited States ain't agoin to pay penshuns to a man wich desertid the Confedracy in her hour uv need.'

Sam's name wuz immejitly stricken off the role. There is a great deal of Spartan virchoo in the Corners.

Another trouble okkurred with Smith Peyton. He come and claimed to be put down ez entitled to a penshun.

'But you served in the Fedrel army,' objectid Issaker.

'Troo,' sed Smith, 'but I desertid, and hev votid the Dimocratic tiket without a scratch ever since.'

His case wus taken into considerashun, and it wus finelly decided that his name shood be entered. With these trifflin exsepshuns, everything wus harmonious.

I find that every sitizen of the Corners, exceptin Pollock and Bigler, wus in the Confedrit servis, either ez actooal soljer, or in sum way engaged in promotin its interest. We shel insist to put us on a complete equality with the Fedrels, that these pensuns shel date back to the beginin of the war, and interest shel be compounded from that date to this. Also that each one shel hev the same land grants, and all the addishnel pay that the Fedrels hev received. Likewise, inasmuch ez the Confedrit money wuzn't good for nothin, that each Confedrit soljer shel receve pay for the entire time he wus in the Confedrit servis, the same ez Fedrel soljers, with an addishnel allowence to make up for insuffishent rashens he reseved while in the feeld.

The effeck upon the Corners is miraculous. Bascom is so certin uv the eleckshun uv Hancock and the payment uv these claims that he hez opened a system uv credit, and the Corners is gittin now all the likker it wants.

Will the Dimocrisy of the North disappint us? Is this golden dra to be made a reolity, or will they permit the eleckshun of Garfeeld, and set us back where we wuz? I cannot bleeve it. Kentucky will do its hull dooty for Hancock.

PETROLEUM V. NASBY,
(Jubilant.)

Snakes.

Do you want some items about snakes?' asked an agriculturaly-rural-looking gentleman of the Eagle's city editor the other day.

'If they are fresh and true," responded the city editor.

'Exactly,' replied the farmer. 'These items are both. Nobody knows 'em but me. I got a farm down on the island a piece, and there's lots of snakes on it. Near the house is a pond about six feet deep. A week ago my little girl jumped into the pond, and would have drowned if it hadn't been for a snake. The snake seen and went for her and brought her ashore. The particular point about this item is the way he did it.'

'How was it?' asked the city editor.

'It was a black snake, about thirty feet long, and he just coiled the middle of himself around her neck so she couldn't swallow any water, and swum ashore with his head and tail. Is that a good item?'

'First-class.'

"You can spread it out, you know. After they got ashore the girl patted the snake on the head, and it went off pleased as Punch. Ever since then he comes to the house regular at meal times, and she feeds him on pie. Think you can make anything out of that item?'

'Certainly. Know any more?'

'Yes. I got a baby six months old H'es a boy. We generally sit him on the grass of a morning, and he hollers like a bull all day; at least he used to, but he don't any more. One morning we noticed he wasn't hollering and wondered what was up. When we looked there was a rattlesnake coiled up in front of him, scanning his features. The boy was grinning and the snake was grinning. Bimeby the snake turned his tail to the baby and backed his rattle right into the baby's fist.'

'What did the baby do?'

'Why, he just rattled that tail so you could hear it three-quarters of a mile, and the snake lay there and grinned. Every morning we found the snake there, until one day a bigger snake came, and the baby played with his rattle just the same until the first snake came again. He seemed thin, and it seemed he had been sick and sent the other to fill his place. Will that do for an item?'

'Immensely,' replied the city editor.

'You can fill in about the confidence of childhood and all that, and you might say something about the blue eyed cherub. His name is Isaac, Put that in to please my wife.'

'I'll do it. Any more snake items?'

'Lemme see. You've heard of hoopsnakes?'

'Yes, often.'

'Just so. Not long ago we heard a fearful row in our cellar one night. It seemed like a rock-blast, and then there was a hiss and things was quiet. When I looked in the morning the cider barrel was busted, but we didn't loose much cider.'

'How did you save it?'

'It seems that the staves had busted out, but before they could get away four hoopsnakes coiled around the barrel and tightened it up and held it together until we drew the cider off in bottles. That's the way we found 'em, and we've had them around the house ever since. We're training 'em for shawl straps now. Does that hit you as favorable for an item?'

'Enormously,' responded the city editor.

'You can fix it up so as to show how soon they was to get there before the staves was blown off. You can fix in the details.'

'Of course. I'll attend to all that. Do you remember any more?'

'Ain't you got enough? Lemme study. O, yes! On Sunday me and my wife was going to church, and she dropped her garter somewhere. She told me about it, and I noticed a little striped snake running along side and listening to her. Bimeby he just made a spring and wound himself around her stocking, or tried to but he didn't fetch it.'

'Why not?'

'He wasn't quite long enough. He jumped down and wagged his head and started off. We hadn't gone more'n a quarter of a mile when we see him coming out of the woods just ahead of us. He was awful hot and tired, and he had another one with him twice as big as he was. They watched my wife a minute and said something to each other, and then the big snake went right to the place where the garter belonged. He then wrapped around, put his tail in his mouth and went to sleep. We got him yet. We use him to hold the stovepipe together when we put the stove up. Is that any use to you as an item?'

'Certainly,' said the city editor.

'You can say something about the first snake's eye for distances, and his intellectuality, when he found he wouldn't go 'round. You know how to do it better than me.'

'I'll give him all the credit he deserves. Can't you tell us any more?'

"I don't call any to mind just at present. My wife knows a lot of snake items, but I forget 'em. By the way, though, I've got a regular living curiosity down at my place. One day my oldest boy was sittin on the back stoop doing his sums, and he couldn't get 'em right. He felt something against his face, and there was a little snake coiled up on his shoulder and looking at the slate. In four minutes he had done all them sums. We've tamed him so he keeps all our accounts, and he is the lightningest cuss at figures you ever seen. He'll run up a column eight feet long in three seconds. I wouldn't take a reaper for him.'

'What kind of a snake is he?" inquired the city editor, curiously.

'The neighbors call him an adder.'

'O, yes! yes!' said the city editor, a trifle disconcerted. 'I've heard of the species. When did all these things happen?'

'Along in the fore part of the spring, but I didn't say anything about 'em, 'cause it wasn't the season for snake items. This is about the time for that sort of thing, isn't it?'

'Yes,' chipped in the exchange editor, 'you couldn't have picked out a better time for snake stories.' Brooklyn Eagle

Lady Wodehouse, nee Minnie King, of Augusta, Ga., lately married to the Marquis of Anglesey, wore a bridal dress of pearl-colored satin, almost covered with white lace and a Leghorn bonnet, shaded by white ostrich plumes, at her wedding.

If you want a good starch, mix it with cold water; add boiling water until it thickens, then add a dessert spoonful of sugar and a small piece of butter. This makes a stiff and glossy finish, equal to the laundry.

Remedy for Worms in a Horse—Half a cup of pure hard-wood ashes finely sifted and mixed dry with the mash. If one dose should not be sufficient, repeat it after a day or two.

Local Small Talk.

Mr. Isaac Mitchell and family are at Ocean Grove.

—The can-can season is the way it is written now.

—The musical katydid chirpeth once again by the wayside.

—Railroad disasters are becoming painfully frequent in this section.

—Plums, sour and hard as bricks, sell on the streets at ten cents a quart.

—Tyrone's new depot, it is said, will be a fine looking structure when completed.

—People should be careful about sitting in a draft during this changable weather.

—Dr. Tanner is now called the "fast male." He has numerous imitators in Bellefonte.

—The hunting season draweth nigh. Sportsmen should post themselves on the game laws.

—Good butter is becoming scarce again in this section. Farmers, here's your opportunity.

—Miss Schroeder, of Reading, is at present visiting her sister in this place, Mrs. D. S. Keller.

—The Altoona car works have been suspended several days on account of the scarcity of material.

—Wonder when our Democratic friends intend getting up another "iay in the shade" meeting.

—One of the street lamps on Water street should be furnished with more oil, or else hung with crape.

—Rev. Laurie, pastor of the Presbyterian congregation, has returned from his trip to the sea shore.

—There is a great deal of promenading done on Water street since the completion of the new board walk.

—Down the valley, below Milesburg, can be seen several fine looking fields of tobacco, in a flourishing state.

Mr. Berney McClain is a grocery clerk no longer, having secured the position of switchman at the Milesburg depot.

—We expect to be called upon to report another cow killed by the cars soon. Several have had narrow escapes of late.

—Mr. Mattern, the accommodating dentist of Milesburg, is building himself a new dwelling house on the site of the old one.

—According to the McNeytown Journal Goshen, the Owl editor, received a severe pounding from a couple of young men.

—A farmer up in Tioga county does his hay raking with a trained steer. This is a great improvement on plowing with a balky heifer.

—A citizen says the South ward contains at least a baker's dozen of curs whose lives ought to be terminated. Ditto, North ward.

—A woman of Williamsport who has not uttered a word since 1873 now speaks glibly. She prayed, and now, in answer to prayer, talks.

Miss Alice Nolan, of Petersburg, is visiting relatives in town. She formerly resided in Bellefonte, and has many friends in this vicinity.

—Every room at the Chinclecla-moose House, Snow Shoe, is reported taken, which tells the story of the popularity of this mountain resort.

—Our census enumerators are patiently waiting for their "sugar," and some of them evidently begin to think it wasn't such a "fat snap" after all.

—Grain cars on the Pennsylvania railroad, of their new pattern, which have a capacity to carry 40,000 pounds, are being shipped west in large numbers.

—Mr. G. Ulmer, of Hazleton, says the Sentinel, wants to bet $1,000 on the election of Hancock. This seems a little strange, but, then, rash men live in every community.

—This is the season to inaugurate coon hunts. An important feature of these hunts is to so arrange matters that the trail will always lead through a water melon patch.

—It is said that a Bellefonte sportsman went up the creek with his fly rod Thursday afternoon about a mile before it occurred to him that the trout season was over.

—A vote taken on an excursion train on the Pennsylvania railroad a few days ago resulted—Garfield, 120; Hancock, 52, Weaver, 7. Carry the news to John Dawson.

—The machinery for the Huntingdon car works has arrived and is being placed in position. We presume the Huntingdonites are immensely tickled in consequence.

—Squirrels cannot lawfully be taken before the first of September. From what we hear there are several amateur sportsmen in this place who were not aware of this fact.

—On Saturday night of last week a man named Bryant, who was stopping at a St. Mary's hotel, dreamed that he was in a wagon and wanted to jump out, and jumped out of a two story window, there being no one in his room to refrain him. He died the day after from his injuries.

—What we want is some kind of legislation that will reduce the price of lemons. They retail at five cents apiece in Bellefonte, and are about the size of a pullet's egg at that.

—A barber in Ithaca, N. Y., was recently fined $20 for shaving his customers on Sunday. It will cost him several days of hard labor to razor-nough money to make it up again.

—Leonard Rhone, W. M., has issued a call for a meeting of Centre County Pomona Grange, to be held at Centre Hall on Tuesday, August 17th. There will be three sessions—10 a. m., and 2 and 7 p. m.

—The Zion Cornet Band will give an ice cream festival on Saturday evening, August 14th, to which everybody is invited. The management is in competent hands, and a first-rate time may be expected.

—John Dawson's "rag baby" proclivities are on the wane. Yet, John seems to have a hankerin' after a Cabinet appointment—f'r instance, he would like to be Sherman's successor in the Treasury department.

—A male child was found in a water closet of a dwelling house in Altoona by the police on Tuesday morning. It is supposed to be another case of infanticide, as the child was proven to have been born alive by the coroner's jury.

—A drive into the country at this season of the year is delightful—that is, in fair weather. The orchards with their wealth of ripening fruit, the smooth, newly-mown fields, and similar other scenes make such a trip both attractive and pleasing.

—The Altoona Sun of Tuesday says: "Miss Kate Fortney, of Centre county, while walking at Eleventh avenue and Ninth street yesterday, fell over a loose board in the walk and her face was badly bruised and one eye cut. A suit for damages against the city is likely to be the result."

—The Altoona Tribune is authoritatively informed that companies belonging to the National Guard which do not come up to the standard at the approaching inspection will receive no State appropriation. If such is the case Co. B of this place should put in some hard work in drill practice between now and September.

—Some important improvements have been made about the public school property during the past few days. Among others a much needed gutter has been dug the entire length of the Allegheny street front to conduct the water into the Linn street culvert. One or two other improvements of a like nature are in contemplation.

—A rather peculiar scene was enacted at the Pennsylvania railroad depot in Harrisburg the other day. A stranger stepped up to the ticket office and called for a number of tickets for Middletown, for which he paid the regular fare. Then stepping back he tore them to fragments, and on the ticket agent's inquiry as to what he meant, replied: "I have been stealing rides on freight trains between Harrisburg and Middletown, and want to make up for it. The Pennsylvania railroad company and I are square now." This is one of the few instances on record of a man paying back anything taken from a corporation.

Leaves from Eagleville.

I took the train at C—— on the B. E. V. railroad last Saturday morning to look for a cool place, and with it social enjoyment and something good to eat. The mercury on that day, and for several days previous, had risen among the 90s, and seemed to be seeking an elevation even beyond that. Having heard of the Sabbath-school picnic to be given on that day by the schools of Eagleville, we started to meet Venner's cool wave at that place. We arrived safely at our destination in due time, half-past ten. At the station we found many friends, who after the usual greeting, escorted us to their splendid picnic grounds, near the station, where we found the schools nicely and comfortably seated listening to some choice music which was being rendered by the Baptist choir, led by Mr. Joseph Bomgardner, who possesses extraordinary musical attainments, as was shown on this occasion. The music was followed by an eloquent and instructive address by Rev. Ridge, of the Baptist church, which abounded in original wit and humor of the highest order. The address was followed by music in the usual good style, after which it was announced that they would now partake of the good things which had been prepared for the occasion, in the way of eatables, at which announcement the children were highly delighted, for they well knew that mamma had something unusually good in their basket for them, and of which fact we ourselves were shortly advised, by a practical demonstration, but not from mamma's basket, though we are under obligations to many of them for their kind invitations. Our eyes espied many lunches, to say the least, that were just splendid, at least the one at which we were so nicely served and to which we did ample justice. It would have made an excellent wedding feast, and for which we return our thanks to Mr. S. and his better half.

After lunch was served we again seated ourselves to listen to music and an address by Elder Blair, of the Disciple Church, which was full of practical instruction, and abounded with sprightly Scotch wit, and was well received, often bringing applause from the audience. After the address all were permitted to enjoy themselves as they saw proper, which all apparently did hugely during the remainder of the afternoon. While the picnic was all that the most sanguine anticipated—as it was the first Union Sunday-school picnic in the history of the town—yet it is a source of regret that prejudice of church, which is contrary to the teachings of the Bible, prevented it from being what it really might have been.

The Baptist Church realized $75.00 from their festival last Saturday evening.

Every person here is going to camp meeting, at Beech Creek, next Saturday and Sunday, so they say.

Everything here shows signs of returning prosperity; everybody is at work, or, if not, might be at good wages, and cash at that.

Political matters are stirring the people. There are three parties here—Republicans, Democrats and Prohibitionists. The formor are quite numerous and enthusiastic. I think the latter will poll one vote.

Elder Blair, of the Disciple Church, preached an able discourse on the conversion of Saul on Sabbath evening. If he continues preaching such sermons we have no doubt he will cause a shaking among the dry bones, which is so much needed here.

Mr. Fowler's saw mill up Marsh creek is run at present to its fullest capacity, having more bills on hand than he can fill until fall. He has concluded to build another mill at the upper end of the job. Jno. Morris Esq., is his gentlemanly and obliging manager at this place.

AXON.

Doings at Boalsburg.

Boalsburg and vicinity are still in existence, and we are all moving along on the even tenor of our way. We have lately had added to our business industries a new variety cash store, kept by Jerry Dinges, which our old citizen, Mr. Swineheart, says, "Go like unto the beehive of Bellefonte," and a shoe store, kept by that genial and enterprising piece of true humanity, Scott Bricker. We are glad to say that they are doing well, and hope that they may continue so to do until they "shuffle off this mortal coil." Beck says money makes the mare go, but judging from the small number attending his entertainment at the Academy on Saturday evening we would say that all the money he took in at that time would not make the mare go very far. All those who stayed away, however, missed a rare treat, as those who were there inform us that they were kept in a continual roar of laughter from beginning to end. He certainly deserved more patronage than he received, but among our old-young men here entertainments of that kind are considered innovations not to be tolerated or patronized.

Our eyes were opened with wonder on Saturday by witnessing the grand entry of a leap year party into our town, hailing, they say, from Centre Hall. Our ears were delighted about the same time with delicious strains of music from the Loop brass band, and, all in all, with its music, parties, choir meetings and entertainments Saturday was a lively day in our town.

Many of our farmers are threshing, and they almost universally complain of poor crops.

The stream of Republican logic is running slow and steady, but kept deep. The fact of the matter is that the Republicans were never so much united in this community as now, and Democrats are having their bleared visions cleared up to such a degree that they are even beginning to see the striking contrast between the borrowed statesmanship of Hancock, the "superb," and the genuine American statesmanship of Garfield, the true.

The factory owned and conducted by J. G. Irvin, at Oak Hall, is running full time. Dr. Hale's farm, at the same place, is being vastly improved by painting the buildings, liming the land, etc., and D. C. Gingerich is having his mill thoroughly repaired so as to be able to turn out the good flour for which his mill is noted during the dry weather, which, he says, is fast approaching.

Johnny Getz is always to be found at his place of business in Lemont, and Gramley is always on hand with his carefully combed and parted hair. But, more anon. UGLY JOE.

Agricultural Implement

AND

BELLEFONTE, PA.

They mean by this all the name imports, that is, to deal in and to furnish to farmers at the lowest possible price everything in the shape of an agricultural implement that farmers use, including SEEDS of all kinds.

At present we have on hand and are the authorized agents for the sale of the SYRACUSE CHILLED PLOW, made at Syracuse, N. Y. It is the best chilled plow now made; also the Keystone and iron beam plows, made at Centre Hall. No better plows than these can be had for the same amount of money. Also the Centre Hall Cornplanter. We need say nothing about the merits of this planter, as the 2000 now in use in Centre county demonstrates them to be the best.

HARROWS and CULTIVATORS of the latest improved patterns.

MOWERS, REAPERS and GRAIN BINDERS.—Of these we sell the Osborne, either as separate mowers, combined reapers and mowers, single harvesters, or as combined reapers and binders.

THE WHEELER, No. 6, as a combined machine, is the best machine of the kind in the market.

The greatest improvement of the age is the NORRISTOWN GLEANER AND BINDER. Call and see it. It is wonderfully perfect.

Any boy twelve years old, with one horse, will follow and bind all the grain that any reaper with side delivery will cut. It not only binds but gleans, and will save the price of the machine in one year by taking up from the stubble that which is now lost.

The McSHERRY GRAIN DRILL either with or without broadcast hoes, with or without fertilizer and seed sowing attachments. It is the best grain drill for all purposes in the market.

The GEISER THRESHER AND SEPARATOR.—The reputation of this machine is so well established that we can say nothing about it that the people do not know. Any person wanting one, or in need of repairs for those now in the county, please call.

HEEBNER'S PATENT LEVEL TREAD HORSE POWER, for one and two horses, with Patent Speed Regulator. Little Giant Thresher and Cleaner.

THE VICTOR CLOVER HULLER—Sole Agents for Centre county.

Wagons, Carriages, Buggies and Phaetons.—We are agents for the sale of the celebrated CONKLIN WAGON, the reputation of which is so well established; also of the CORTLAND PLATFORM SPRING WAGONS, Carriages, Phaetons and Buggies. All are warranted. Call and see specimens and examine catalogues as to styles and prices before buying elsewhere. Catalogues furnished on application.

PLASTER and FERTILIZERS. — Cayuga Plaster, finely ground, as good as the best Nova Scotia, at the low price of $7.00 per ton. Peruvian Guano sold on orders only. Phosphates always on hand. Special manures for different crops sold upon orders at manufacturers' prices.

POWDER.—We are Dupont's agents. Blasting, Sporting and Rifle Powder on hand and sold at wholesale prices; also fuse.

GRAIN.—After the growing crop is harvested we will be prepared to pay the highest market price for all kinds of grain.

COAL.—Our yard is always stocked with the best Anthracite Coal which we sell at lowest price.

LIME.—We make the best white lime in the State. Its properties for mechanical and agricultural purposes excel all others.

FAIRBANKS' SCALES.—We are their agents for Centre county and will supply all parties wishing good and true scales at their lowest prices.

We extend an invitation to everybody in want of anything in our line to call at our store rooms, opposite the Bush House, and see what we have, and learn from those in attendance more particularly the scope of our business.

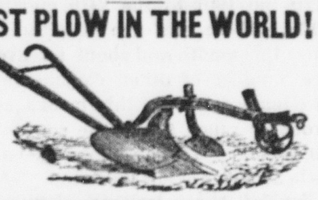
A NEW DEPARTURE!
BEST PLOW IN THE WORLD!



THE SYRACUSE CHILLED PLOW CO.
of Syracuse, N. Y.
Are now putting on the market a Plow that is as much superior to any Plow heretofore made as the Plows of the past few years have been superior to those made half a century ago.

It combines all the excellencies of any Plow in use.

It obviates all the objections made to any other Plow.

In addition it embraces several new features of the greatest value, for which we have obtained exclusive Patents.

Its Beam, Clevis, Jointer Standard and Wheel Standard will be STEEL, and its mold board will be a composition of Steel and Iron chilled under a process for which we have also obtained an exclusive Patent. It will be called

THE SYRACUSE
CHILLED STEEL PLOW

Its weight will be eighteen pounds less than our present styles.

A first-class Steel Plow, made in the ordinary way, full rigged, retails for twenty-two dollars. Inferior Steel Plows retail from sixteen to nineteen dollars.

The price of our new Plow will be but Seventeen Dollars, and it will be the cheapest Agricultural Implement ever sold.

Its mold board will outwear three of the very best kinds of the ordinary steel mold boards.

It will scour in soils where all steel plows and all other plows have hitherto proved a failure.

With this Plow will be introduced a corrugated Plow Point and Jointer Point, on which we have also obtained a Patent, and which is also a great improvement, both as regards strength and wear.

The Jointer can be shifted so as to take more or less land, and also more or less pitch, and it can always be kept on a line with the Plow.

The wheel will run under the beam or one side of it as desired, and always kept in line.

The beam is adjustable for Spring or Fall Plowing, and also for two or three horses.

The handles can be adjusted to accommodate a man or boy, on the same Plow.

It is a perfect Plow.

Wooden beams are going out of use because they shrink, swell and warp, and never run two seasons alike.

Iron beams are too heavy.

Malleable beams become demoralized and bend, which is much worse than to break.

A Steel beam is the necessity of the day. It is three times as strong and very much lighter than any other style.

When we say a Mold board is chilled, the farmers know it is so.

We do not palm off on them a composition of various metals and call it chilled metal.

We want agents for this new Plow in every town in this State.

We can give but a very small discount to them, but we will pay the Railroad Freight.

We propose to place this Plow in the hands of Farmers as near the cost of manufacture as possible.

It will be the best Agricultural Implement ever sold.

It shall also be the cheapest.

Persons therefore who are not willing to act as agents on the principle that "a nimble sixpence is better than a slow shilling," need not apply for an agency.

No Plows on commission. All sales absolute.

☞ This is the only Steel Chilled Plow in the World.

Steel costs several times more than Iron.

But this Plow, full rigged, by giving small discounts, can be sold for Seventeen Dollars. Compare this price with that of any Iron Plow ever made.

It is cheaper than any other Plow now made would be at five dollars and a half.

Where there are no agents we will, on receipt of Seventeen Dollars, send a Plow to any Railroad station in the State and pay the freight. Address,

Is a sure cure for all the ordinary diseases of Horses, Cattle, Sheep and Swine. It cures and prevents Chicken Cholera. Your cow is certain to yield 25 per cent more and better milk and butter. Stock fattens on one-fourth less feed.

Being in possession of a large number of excellent testimonials, I subjoin a few:

I have been using your Cattle Powder for horses, cows, chickens and pigs, and find it a first class thing.—GEORGE BOND, Germantown, Pa.

Please send me half a gross of Cattle Powder. I have used two packs on my cow and chickens. The cow gave nearly twice the quantity of milk that she did before, and gave twice the amount of butter. My chickens were dying, but were cured immediately after I had used the powder. Yours truly, JONAS PASOUR, Dallas, N. C.

I have used and compared your Cattle Powder with all others, and must say it is the best for horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, &c. I have tried it on poultry for many complaints, with success in every case.—JONATHAN WEAVER, Berrysburg, Pa.

Last summer you sent me a pack of your powder which I gave to my poultry, and have not had one droopy turkey or chicken since.—MRS. WM. KNAPP, Orange, N. Y.

Send me a pack or two of your Cattle Powder. The pack I got from you last winter cured the chicken cholera. I gave some of it to a neighbor and it cured his chickens.—JOHN WILLIAMS, Spruce Vale, Ohio.

☞ PARTICULAR NOTICE.—All supporters of GARFIELD AND ARTHUR in Bellefonte and vicinity, who are FORTY YEARS OLD AND UPWARD, are requested to meet in the Republican Club Room at 8 o'clock sharp, on THURSDAY EVENING, August 12, 1880. Fail not to be there. Important business on hand.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Milesburg and Boggs Township's Garfield and Arthur Club Permanently Organized.

On Thursday evening last, in pursuance to an adjournment, the Republicans of Milesburg and Boggs township met in the old ware house at Milesburg for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization of the Garfield and Arthur campaign club. At 8 o'clock the crowd assembled and the meeting was organized by calling L. T. Eddy, Esq., to the chair, and Frank E. Taylor secretary.

John G. Love, Esq., of Bellefonte, was then called upon, who delivered an able and eloquent address, which elicited much applause and had a telling effect upon the meeting.

At the close of his speech an opportunity was given to persons to sign the roll. The first signer was J. B. Jones, Esq., a staunch Greenbacker for the last three years, and prior thereto a Democrat. Quite a number came forward and signed amidst great applause and cheers.

Gen. James A. Beaver was then shouted for, who was greeted with tumultuous applause, and made a very effective and eloquent speech, which was received with enthusiastic applause. At the close of the General's speech J. B. Jones, Esq., was loudly called for, who came forward and made a brief speech, giving cogent reasons for his course of action in joining the Republicans. He was at the Democratic meeting Saturday night, the 31st ult., and said the Democratic orators condemned the Republicans for shaking the bloody shirt, but that it was not five minutes until they paraded the bloody shirt, boasting what a gallant and superb soldier General Hancock was during the war. That they thought it all right for Democrats to wave the bloody shirt, but as soon as the Republicans spoke of the gallantry of a Union soldier then the Democrats cried out, "haul down that bloody shirt." They can boast of Hancock's war record, but are very much afraid of their own record during the war. Mr. Jones' speech was greeted with applause, and at the close of his remarks quite a number of his friends who had been with him as Greenbackers came forward and joined the club, as well as some who had been Democrats.

Mr. Eddy then reported for permanent officers of the club:

President—Capt. Austin Curtin.

Vice Presidents—George Taylor, John M. Wagner and Joseph Green, Esq.

Secretary—Joseph Rodgers.

Treasurer—Charles S. Else.

The meeting then adjourned to meet at the call of the president. The meeting was large, there being fully four hundred persons present, and was one of the most enthusiastic and effective ever held in this place. It was an evidence that the Boggs township and Milesburg Republicans are aroused, and are determined to bring the township and borough back into the Republican line with an old-time majority.

SECRETARY.

What was in a Corn Field.

The last issue of the Chambersburg Herald contains the following strange story: "On Saturday evening Christian Stouffer borrowed a short, single-barreled shot gun from Wm. Rupert, asserting that he wanted to get rid of some dogs which had been chasing rabbits through his corn. He told Rupert not to load the piece heavily, as he had no intention of killing anybody, but was going to fire into the air to scare them. Shouldering his gun he trudged out Broad street in the direction of his lot and watched. Presently he saw two men walk along the railroad, and begin tramping up and down the siding. Then one of them threw a stone at a board which was standing upright in his potato patch, and which in the darkness resembled a man's form. Then the two descended into the patch and began raising potatoes. Stouffer yelled at them and they ran. As they sped toward the corn field he followed and fired as they were all running. He uttered the command "halt," but he heard nothing but the noise as they rushed among the cornstalks. Fearing that they might return, and not knowing of any damage he had inflicted, he feared that the two men might make a counter charge.

"He accordingly returned to town and stayed here until yesterday morning, when, in company with some children, he went out to the field to get some roasting ears to sell through town. After passing along three or four rows he came across an apparently dead body. He came to town, disposed of his corn, and then went to Hon. John Stewart and narrated the above facts, for these are the main facts of his story as told before the magistrate. The advice given by his counsel led to empanelling a jury by Magistrate M'Nulty, to whom Mr. Stewart had made known that there was a dead body in the cornfield. A jury was summoned and proceeding to the spot found the body lying face downward among the cornstalks. The body was turned over on its back when it was recognized as the corpse of Robert Allison. Decomposition had already set in and a terrible gunshot wound, one and a half inches in diameter on the left side below the heart, indicated the cause of his death. Swollen and blackened the body lay among the corn a prey to insects and flies throughout the whole half day until the coroner put in an appearance."

Boggs Township.

ED. REPUBLICAN: I suppose you have heard ere this of the Democratic meeting held in Milesburg by the voters of Milesburg and Boggs twp. But the majority of the voters that attended that meeting happened to come from Bellefonte, and were met at the depot by about a dozen voters and fifteen boys, and escorted to the place of meeting, where they were addressed by J. L. Spangler, David F. Fortney, William Heinle and a former resident of Emerald Isle, who tried to make some impression on the crowd but could only raise one little cheer—a cheer that reminded the writer of the cheer the rebels gave at the retaking of Fort Steadman. We don't wish to say anything about the speaker or the country he came from, but really think it a sad commentary on Dmocratic institutions when we reflect that Ireland furnishes running gear for American politics. The other speakers were all the while urging everybody to go and sign the pledge, something the Democratic papers said so much about the Republicans doing. But it is Democratic doctrine to blame a party for doing something and then do the same thing themselves.

All their speakers could say was that Hancock was a good soldier; but they could not say one word in praise of the party that voted against the soldier having a vote; that voted against the arrears of pension, and that voted that the war was a failure. They never can say one good word of the party whose desperate fortune compelled its nominating a General of the Union army for the Presidency—a mere figure head; a little like the pirate that hoists an honest flag to purify the tainted reputation of his ship.

Come down to Milesburg on next Thursday evening and we will have speakers there that will not have to be ashamed to give the past record of the party that saved this country when we had to fight traitors on every side.

FORT STEADMAN

The Planets for August and what They Portend.

An astronomical journal gives the following planetary information for August: Mercury will be in its interior conjunction with the sun on the 4th. It will be in its ascending node on the 24th, and in its perihelion on the 29th. Mercury will be in a longitudinal line with Jupiter on the 18th, and in a similar line with Saturn on the 21st, and in a like line with Neptune on the 24th. Venus will be in a line with Uranus on the 12th, and in a line with Mars on the 28th. The principal disturbing positions of the planets for the month appear to be located about the 4th and 5th, the 12th, the 18th to the 24th, and the 29th. There are five longitudinal lines this month and about an average number of other conjunctions. The temperature for this month will probably range above the mean of the season. The average may be a little above or below the mean.

Zadkiel, the astrologer, whose almanac was issued last autumn, does take a cheerful view of European affairs for this month. Mercury, Jupiter, Saturn and Neptune are to be stationary planets, and therefore England, Germany, Ireland and Persia are to witness stirring events, mostly in the nature of troubles. From the position of Mars we may look for railway catastrophes. Paris is to be especially unfortunate, for during the current week Zadkiel fortells great disturbances of her peace, with a possible conflagration and spilling of blood. Radkiel also warns persons whose birthdays are to occur at the beginning of September against traveling on the 7th, 8th and 9th of this month. Hotel keepers may use this prophesy with good advantage to detain transient guests. All will go well, however, with people born on the 11th of August. According to Jadkiel, a popular English prince—perhaps Leopold, now on the high seas—will receive in August many public honors and an increase of dignity. Everybody will be glad to learn that the odd astronomical relations of Mercury with Venus, trade will be very brisk during the whole of August. Finally, and for the benefit of the bulls of Capel court and Broad street, Zadkief foretells that August will be a fine harvest month.

—A part of the crew of a lost ship, the Mathilde, are supposed to be starving on Socorro Island, in the Pacific. Considerable red tape had to be cut before a Government vessel could be sent to the rescue, and before a sailing craft was finally started from San Francisco, Sir Thomas Hesketh, who was in the harbor with his steam yacht, Lancashire Witch, despatched her forthwith. The President of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce wrote to Sir Thomas as follows: "The missing persons are Americans, yet our Government, either from apathy or the exactions of red tape, does not appear to have taken adequate steps for their rescue."

We don't care a fig about the red tape part of the above, but we can't help thinking how those poor, deserted tars on the island would appreciate a ship-load of Sechler & Co.'s pure, invigorating groceries. On account of their genuineness they would impart new life and vigor into the poor fellows, and so strengthen them that they would almost be enabled to swim home. Sechler's groceries work miracles.

—Huntingdon county women do not allow trifling matters to interfere with business: One day last week a farmer's wife, residing a half-dozen miles from Huntingdon went to the fields and woods and gathered quite a number of quarts of berries, arriving at home about four o'clock in the afternoon, when, after attending to her household duties she presented her husband with a bouncing boy baby. The next morning she was up betimes, performed her usual domestic duties, harnessed her horse and drove to town, disposed of her berries and drove home again feeling as gay as a cricket.

—Sechler & Co. constantly keep on hand a large stock of pure, unadulterated confectionery. Buy only pure candy for your children.

A Noted Bellefonte Base Ballist.

Monte. Ward, of this place, the noted pitcher of the Providence base ball club, is doing some effective work this season, which is attracting not a little attention in base ball circles. The Altoona Sun of Wednesday contains the following: "The Providence (R. I.) base ball club, at present the champion club of the United States, will pass through this city on Sunday evening on their way west to fulfill engagements on the diamond field. John Montgomery Ward, a Bellefonte youth of 20, familiarly known as 'Monte,' is the captain of the nine and will be in the party. He is celebrated as the most accomplished curve pitcher in the country, and is a brother of Mr. C. L. Ward of this city. 'Monte' did some remarkable work in a game of ball at Providence on July 17th with the Buffalo club. The nine did not make a single run, each man 'striking out' each successive inning and not a single player getting as far as first base. This is something unprecedented in the history of base ball in the United States."

Eagleville Items.

Mrs. Samuel Glossner and Miss Carrie Quigley have just retured from a two months' visit to friends in Scranton. They look well and happy, and wile away many an hour with pleasant anecdotes and tales of the historic North Branch.

Miss Maggie Austin, of Julian, a niece of Mrs. Ridge, is now visiting our litile village, the guest of her aunt.

The largest float of logs ever on Beech creek at any one time is now moving two miles above us. Eighty men are working it, under the immediate supervision of James Wilson, the boss drifter in this region. As the water is rapidly falling, they must hang up the drive to-day. We are told it has already cost five thousand dollars, and yet are fifteen miles from their destination.

The M. E. Camp-meeting is in full blast. We have no doubt but the intention of the church is right, but the conduct it seems to invite is anything but religious. The noise, the confusion, hallooing and racing on the Sabbath Day to and from is certainly in violation of all rules of Christianity or even morality. It is estimated that 4,000 people were in the grounds on Sunday.

We had written up our picnic, but picked up the NEWS and there saw that "Anon" had stole a march on us and had stolen our item. Well, that is not the only thing "Anon" has stolen down here, and if he don't "look a leedle oud" we will blow on him; but we are of a forgiving nature.

LATROBE.

Arm Broken.

Eddie, youngest son of Mr. F. C. Richards, the watchmaker, met with a severe accident at the depot on Wednesday evening. With several companions he was amusing himself by jumping over the railing that extends along the platform, but in some manner his foot caught on the rail, throwing him backward upon the platform and breaking one of his arms at the elbow. He got up and walked away, and although his arm pained him slightly, he did not regard the hurt as anything more than a sprain until informed of the nature of the wound by a physician. The brake is not considered a serious one, we are informed, although it will be some time before the young man will have the use of the injured limb.

Tribute of Respect.

At a meeting of Gregg Post, No. 95, G. A. R., the following resolutions were offered and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Post be tendered to the several ladies who so generously furnished the flowers for the burial service of our late comrade, James Sheridan.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Post be tendered Messrs. Jas. Whittaker, John Irwin and Finley Johnston (non members of the Post) for their assistance in supplying the music for same occasion.

—Dr. B. J. Kendall, Enosburgh Falls, Vt., is the inventer of the "Kendall's Spavin Cure" now used with the greatest success throughout the United States for both man and beast. Underhill & Kittredge, Concord, N. H., have cured and removed a bad spavin with Kendall's Spavin Cure. and this is only the experience of thousands we might mention if we had space here, and it is also being used now with wonderful success on human flesh as well as for beast. Read the advertisement for Kendall's Spavin Cure.

Our Next President Makes a Speech.

The reception and serenade tendered to General Garfield at the headquarters of the Republican National Committee on Fifth avenue, New York, on Friday evening, was a brilliant success, the avenue and surrounding streets being thronged with an enthusiastic crowd numbering about 10,000 persons. When General Garfield appeared on the balcony he was greeted with loud and prolonged cheers. After reviewing the procession he spoke as follows:

Comrades of the Boys in Blue and Fellow-Citizens of New York: I cannot look upon this great assemblage and these old veterans who have marched past us, and listen to the welcome from our comrade who has just spoken, without remembering how great a thing it is to live in this Union and be a part of it. [Applause.] This is New York, and yonder toward the Battery, more than a hundred years ago, a young student of Columbia College was arguing the ideas of American Revolution and American Union against the un-American loyalty to monarchy of his college president and professors. By-and by he went into the patriot army, was placed on the staff of Washington [cheers] to fight the battles of his country [cheers], and while in camp, before he was 21 years old, upon a drumhead he wrote a letter which contained every germ of the Constitution of the United States. [Applause.] That student, soldier, statesman and great leader of thought, Alexander Hamilton, of New York, made this Republic glorious by his thinking and left his lasting impress upon New York, the foremost State of the Union. [Applause.] And here on this island, the scene of his early triumphs we gather to-night, soldiers of the new war, representing the same ideas of Union and glory, and adding to the column of the monument that Hamilton and Washington and the heroes of the Revolution reared.

Gentlemen, ideas outlive men; ideas outlive all things; and you who fought in the war for the Union fought for immortal ideas, and by their might you crowned our war with victory. [Great applause.] But victory was worth nothing except for the fruits that were under it, in it and above it. We meet to-night, as veterans and comrades, to stand sacred guard around the truth for which we fought [loud and prolonged cheering]; and while we have life to meet and grasp the hand of a comrade, we will stand by the great truths of the war. [Cries of Good! Good! and loud cheers.] And, comrades, among the convictions of that war which have sunk deep in our hearts there are some that we can never forget. Think of the great, elevating spirit of the war itself. We gathered the boys from all our farms, and shops, and stores, and schools and homes—from all over the Republic—and they went forth unknown to fame, but returned enrolled on the roster of immortal heroes. [Great applause.] They went, in the spirit of those soldiers of Henry at Agincourt, of whom he said:

"Who this day sheds his blood with me.
To-day shall be my brother. Were he ne'er so vile,
This day shall gentle his condition."

And it did gentle the condition and elevate the heart of every working soldier who fought in it. [Applause.] And he shall be our brother forever more. And the thing we will remember; we will remember our allies who fought with us. Soon after the great struggle began we looked behind the army of white rebels and saw four millions of black people condemned to toil as slaves for our enemies, and we found that the hearts of this four million were God-inspired with the spirit of liberty, and that they were our friends. [Applause.] We have seen white men betray the flag and fight to kill the Union; but in all that long, dreary war we never saw a traitor in a black skin. [Great cheers.] Our prisoners escaping from the starvation of prisons, fleeing to our lines by the light of the North Star, never feared to enter the black man's cabin and ask for bread [Good, good! that's so! and loud cheers.] In all that period of suffering and danger no Union soldier was ever betrayed by a black man or woman [applause]; and now, that we have made them free so long as we live, we will stand by these black citizens until the sun of liberty, fixed in the firmament of our constitution, shall shine with equal rays upon every man, black or white, throughout the Union. Now fellow-citizens, fellow-soldiers, in this there is all the beneficence of eternal justice, and by this we will stand forever. [Great applause.] The great poet has said that in individual life we rise "on stepping stones of our dead selves to higher things," and the Republic rises on the glorious achievements of its dead and living heroes to a higher and nobler national life. [Applause.] We must stand guard over our post as soldiers, as patriots, and over our country as a common heritage of us all. [Applause.]

I thank you, fellow-citizens, for this magnificent demonstration. In so far as I represent in my heart and life the great doctrines for which you fought, I accept this demonstration as a tribute to my representative character. [Applause.] In the strength of your hands, in the the fervor of your hearts, in the firmness of your faith, in all that betokens greatness of manhood and nobleness of character, the Republic finds its security and glory. I do not enter upon controverted questions. The time, the place, the situation forbid it. I respect the traditions that require me to speak only of these themes which elevate us all. Again I thank you for the kindness and enthusiasm of your greeting. [Tremendous cheering.]

EDITOR'S TABLE.

THE British Quarterly Review for July has reached us. It is published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., No. 41 Barclay street, New York. The number before us contains many articles of deep interest to every intelligent, scholarly reader.

"Father Curci's New Translation of the Gospels," "Religion and Morality," "Evolution Viewed in Relation to Theology," and "Inspiration." The number of this review for October, 1879, under the heading "The Vatican and Civilization," contained an account of Father Curci and his expulsion from the Company of Jesus, and the present article announces the appearance of a new version of the New Testament by that celebrated writer, but confines his comments mainly to the preface, which explains the method pursued in the preparation of the translation and notes, and sets forth the state of things in the Romish Church which has rendered his work urgently necessary.

The periodicals reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co. are as follows: The London Quarterly Review, Edinburg, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews and Blackwood's Magazine. Price $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the publishers.

THE Domestic Monthly, for August, published by Blake & Company, New York, comes to us as fresh and full of interest as ever. The colored frontispiece represents a lady in beautiful summer costume, standing on the tessellated pavement of a balcony overlooking the sea. The full length illustrations of this excellent magazine are becoming more and more artistic, and while showing in great perfection the details of the various costumes, are pictures in themselves, many of them really charming in design and effect, and as unlike the conventional fashion plate as is possible. A large variety of ladies' and children's costumes is presented, with full and precise descriptions and instructions as to making them up in light summer fabrics and other material.

There is to this magazine a literary department which we see mountains in this number in its standard of excellence. There is no magazine which the ladies of our household greet with greater pleasure than the Domestic Monthly. The price of subscription is $1.50 per year, and specimen copies are sent for fifteen cents. Address as above.

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN MANUAL.—A "Republican Manual" for the campaign of 1880 is announced as in print and very soon to be issued. It is written by Mr. E. V. Smalley, long known as a brilliant newspaper correspondent, and for many years a leading editorial writer on the New York Tribune. Leading features of the book will of course be biographies of the candidates. It will the most authorative and most complete sketch of General Garfield that will appear. Mr. Smalley was at one time the General's private secretary, and has been his intimate friend during the whole of public career, and is therefore qualified by special advantages as well as by talent and experience for the task undertaken.

"Garfield as an Orator and as a Statesman" is a special department, containing extracts from the General's most celebrated speeches, upon topics of the greatest interest in the present campaign; and representing the best efforts of a brilliant scholar, and orator of rare power, and a statesman of consummate tact and skill, it will be read with great interest. Another department, not only of great present interest, but of permanent value, is a full history of the Republican party, its principles, struggles and victories, with important statistical tables particularly valuable for reference in political campaigns.

It is a book which earnest Republicans will delight in, and find the best of all arsenals from which to draw ammunition for campaign use; a book which the independent and conservative voters will study with interest and profit; a book which small Democratic stump speakers will steer clear of when they can. It is published by the American Book Exchange, New York, whose "Literary Revolution" has been the wonder and pleasure of book buyers for months past, and its price, therefore, is only fifty cents, with seven cents extra for postage when sent by mail. Leading booksellers, agents of the publishers, will have it.

SUNSET COX has illuminated the campaign with the remark that "Garfield fought for the country like a blackberry pie." Mr. Cox also demands a "change." His intellect certainly needs it.

A CHROMO could safely be offered as a first-class reason from a Democrat in favor of a "change." Not one has been given yet.

Wade Hampton's Rebel Yell.

WASHINGTON, August 9.—Considerable comment is made here upon the remarkable frank speech which Wade Hampton delivered at a Democratic meeting in Staunton, Va., last week. It was chiefly devoted appeals for Democratic harmony in the Old Dominion, that she might not, by dividing her Democratic vote between two electoral tickets, "sacrifice the Democratic party, sacrifice the south, sacrifice the national government." In enforcing these appeals Senator Hampton referred to "the glorious heritage bequeathed to Virginia by her Lee and Stonewall Jackson," and concluded with these words, "Consider what Lee and Jackson would do were they alive. These are the principles for which they fought for four years."

[The following despatch was received at this place on Saturday afternoon :]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7, 1880.

Tanner triumphant. Drank milk and ate watermelon. Enthusiastic crowds throng Clarendon Hall. Great reception in the street. The doctor drove away in a carriage to Dr. Gunnis' residence.

NEW YORK, August 9.—To a question asked of Tanner as to what he was going to do when he fully regained his strength, he replied that he had not allowed himself to think about that matter. He had had an offer, he said, of $2,700 to deliver ten lectures on the Pacific slope, and he had thought some of accepting it, but at present everything was uncertain. The pecuniary receipts at Clarendon Hall, he said, would net him a very inconsiderable sum, precisely how much he did not know. To-morrow he will walk out for exercise and attend to some business. In the evening, at the invitation of Mr. Judson Sausse, lessee of the American Institute Rink, Sixty-third street and Third avenue, he will attend the festival of the Manhattan Elevated Railway Athletic Club held there

He has not suffered from nausea since the fast closed.

He awoke from a deep sleep at 12 o'clock Saturday night and demanded some beefsteak. This was not easily obtained for him, but at 1:30 it was ready, and he ate a half a pound, rejecting the innutritious part of each mouthful. He also ate two pieces of milk toast. Then he rested, slumbering part of the time until two o'clock, when he drank one ounce of wine. He went to bed and slept without interruption until 7 o'clock, when he awoke and drank an ounce of wine. At 8 o'clock he took another ounce. At 10:40 he ate a half pound of beefsteak, swallowing the fibrous part as well as the juice. With the meat he ate stewed potatous and drank another ounce of wine.

After his breakfast he passed the time in conversation with his attendants, at times sitting up and at times lying down until noon, when he was weighed. His weight was just 126½ pounds. Twenty-four hours before, just after he had eaten the peach with which he broke his fast in Clarendon Hall, he had weighed 121½ pounds. This was a gain in one day of five pounds, to which the weight of the peach should be added, in order to obtain the full gain after the fast.

—"A Fairbanks" is a convenient synonym for a weighing machine or scales' as nearly perfect of its kind as it is possible to procure, whether it occupies a place on the druggist's counters or is at a freight depot, and large enough to weigh a loaded train. A Sluggish Country.

There is a story told of a tourist who, happening to be at Lisbon, was present one day at a sitting of the Cortes. The lower chamber was debating the clauses of a bill for reimbursing a provincial postmaster, whose mules had been stolen by a gang of gypsies. The traveler left the Tagus and sailed to Calloa; thence he went to Paraguay, and some months later he was in California. He crossed the American continent to New York, then proceeded to England, and at the expiration of eighteen months he turned up again at Lisbon, where he found the Cortes still gravely deliberating over the bill indemnifying the postmaster of Tras of Montes for the loss of his mules, the moral of which manifestly is that Portugal, although apparently so peaceful and so prosperous that she is, scarcely ever heard of, is an extremely sluggish and backward country.

can be saved every year by the farmers in this country if they will properly color their butter by using Wells, Richardson & Co's Perfected Butter Color. It is far better than carrots, annato, or any other color, at one-fourth the cost, and no work to use. It gives a splendid June color and never turns red. Do not fail to try it.

The best way of making ruffs to stand up close to the throat is to plait them very closely, and to have three graduated rows of lace. Some people tie a straight piece of lace or lappet round the ruff, others thread China ribbon through it, and tie it when on. It is well to wire it. Fine, almost invisible, covered wire, to be bought at a florist's, is the best for the purpose.

Heat and Sickness.

During the hot and sultry weather an unusual amount of sickness prevails in every community, especially among females and children, caused by the fermenting miasma gas or nitrogenous matter floating in the air, arising from decaying vegetation. The bad air affects everything we eat, and engenders in it a semi-fermentation, which, when taken in the system, is like leaven, and operates on the whole, starting in the bowels and soon producing a violent fermentation, causing diarrhœa and dysentery. It has been found that the use of Speer's Old Port Grape Wine of New Jersey has an extraordinary effect in checking this fermentation and restoring the system to its original strength and vigor. Invalids and debilitated persons have found it the most nutritious and strengthening tonic in the market, and the greatest help in resisting the poisonous effects of the vitiated atmosphere. This wine, so long established, has become the standard wine upon which physicians rely as the most rich in body and genuine in character, containing the great amount of medicinal properties with the least intoxicating qualities. Speer's vineyards produce a larger yield this year than usual, and he has reduced the price of his wine that any person can now purchase it of druggists for $1 per bottle. None of this wine is bottled until it is four years old.—Gazette.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

It Cures Spavins, Splints, Curbs, Ringbones, and all similar Blemishes, and Removes the Bunch without Blistering.

For Man it is now known to be one of the best, if not the best, Liniments ever discovered.

We feel positive that every man can have perfect success in every case if he will only use good common sense in applying KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE, and persevere in bad cases of long standing. Read below the experience of others.

From Col. L. T. Foster.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 10th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co.: Gents: I had a very valuable Hambletonian colt which I prized very highly; he had a large bone spavin on one joint and a smaller one on the other, which made him very lame. I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons, which failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express; I determined at once to try it, and got our druggists here to send for it. They ordered three bottles. I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial. I used it according to the directions and by the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps had entirely disappeared. I used but one bottle, and the colt's limbs are as free from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the state. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it.

Very respectfully, L. T. FOSTER.

From Rev. P. N. Granger,

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co.: GENTS. In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of Lameness caused by spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks, when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming. I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found.

Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL.

Stoughton, Mass., March 10th, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co.: GENTS: In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin cure, one very large one. Don't know now long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off, and two months for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me its sale will be very great.

Respy yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

STATEMENT MADE UNDER OATH.

To Whom it may Concern: In 1875 I treated with Kendall's Spavin Cure a bone spavin of several months' growth, nearly half as large as a hen's egg, and completely stopped the lameness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he has never been lame, nor could I ever see any difference in the size of the hock joints since I treated them with Kendall's Spavin Cure. R. A. GAINES.

Enosburg Falls, Vt., Feb. 26th, 1879.

Sworn and subscribed to before me this 25th day of Feb., A. D. 1879.

Justice of the Peace.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

ON HUMAN FLESH it has been ascertained by repeated trials to be the very best Liniment ever used for any deep-seated pain of long standing, or of short duration. Also for CORNS BUNIONS, FROST-BITES or any bruise, cut or lameness. Some are afraid to use it on human flesh simply because it is a horse medicine, but you should remember that what is good for BEAST is good for MAN, and we know from experience that KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE can be used on a child one year old with perfect safety. Its effects are wonderful on human flesh, and it does not blister or make a sore. Try it and be convinced.

What is Good for Beast is Good for Man

Read of its effects on human flesh:

Patten's Mills, Wash. co., N.Y., Feb. 21, 1878.

B. J. KENDALL, M. D.: Dear Sir: The particular case on which I used your Kendall's Spavin Cure was a malignant ankle sprain of sixteen months' standing. I had tried many things, but in vain. Your Kendall's Spavin Cure put the foot to the ground again, and, for the first time since hurt, in a natural position. For a family liniment it excels anything we ever used. Yours truly,

Rev. M. P. BELL,
Pastor M. E. Church, Patten's Mills, N.Y.

Bakersfield, Vt., Dec. 23, 1879.

B. J. KENDALL & Co.: GENTS: I wish to add my testimony in favor of your invaluable liniment, Kendall's Spavin Cure. In the spring of 1872 I slipped on the ice and sprained my right limb at the knee joint. I was very lame and at times suffered the most excruciating pain. I wore a bandage on it for over a year, and tried most everything in my reach, but could find nothing that would give me permanent relief. When I overworked, it would pain me very much. In April, 1878, I began to think I should be a cripple for life, but having some of Kendall's Spavin Cure thought I would try it. I used one-third of a bottle and experienced relief at once. The pain left me and has not troubled me since. I feel very grateful to you and would recommend Kendall's Spavin Cure to all who suffer with sprains or rheumatism.

Yours truly, MRS. J. BOUTELL.

Send address for Illustrated Circular, which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. All druggists have it or can get it for you, or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors.

Bellefonte Republican.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

THE general depression in Canada and the prosperous condition of affairs in the United States is causing large immigration from the Dominion to the States.

THE efforts to harmonize the conflicting wings of the Democracy in Virginia have thus far failed. The regulars now say they can carry the State for Hancock themselves.

THE leading papers of Cleveland are at present warmly engaged in a discussion as to which of them is the meanest and most mercenary. So far it seems to be a dead heat.

AN old law has just been discovered to be in force in Maryland imposing a fine of five shillings for betting. The main obstacle to the enforcement of the penalty is that it would bankrupt the whole State.

"A FULL vote, a free ballot and a fair count," is a Republican motto employed in Gen. Hancock's letter. But this precept has no influence on the Democratic practice as illustrated in the "great victory in Alabama."

NEW JERSEY is preparing for an active campaign. They will again elect a Republican Legislature in both branches, and thereby will choose a Republican Senator to succeed Senator Randolph, the present Democratic member.

THERE are bright Republican prospects in Indiana. The outlook is daily growing more hopeful. The Republican ticket is received with great favor and strong indications point to a triumph for our party at its State election in October.

THE New York Tribune makes this liberal proposition: "If Wade Hampton will come North and repeat from the stump here his remark that Hancock represents the principles that Lee and Jackson fought for for four years, the Republicans will pay his expenses.

SINCE the war the Confederate States have repudiated State and municipal debts to the astonishing amount of $300,000,000, and yet they have the cheek to ask that they be made the financiers of the Nation. Would you dare trust your affairs to those who cannot manage their own?

THE victory of the Republican party in the French elections indicate the hold which the wise course of that party for the past nine years has given it upon the popular feeling in France. The country has never been more prosperous than under its present form of government. The success of the French Republic is a matter of interest to all friends of popular institutions.

IT is satisfactory to know that the Republican party has taught Hancock something. In 1868 he endorsed a platform which declared the reconstruction acts to be "revolutionary, null and void." Now he says they are inviolable. Does he mean this, or is he simply adapting his views to the demonstrated exigencies of politics in the North? What reason is there for him to believe them inviolable now more than in 1868, except the discovery that he will lose votes unless he says so?

DAVID D. BRUCE, Esq., a leading member of the Pittsburgh bar, and a representive of Select Council of the Twenty-second ward, has renounced the Democracy and declared for General Garfield. Mr. Bruce has long been identified with the Democratic party, and since he has always held a prominent position on account of his superior ability and high social standing, his change will be a source of great regret to his old party associates. There is a significance in this change which will prompt other intelligent and reputable Democrats to follow his example. Mr. Bruce does not consider this a good time to vote for a change of administration. In other words, he cannot perceive that the country is to be benefited by the election of General Hancock. This view is commending itself widely to business men, and as the canvas progresses there will be hundreds of such changes, though the great majority of them may not be made public. We have the names of two other well-known Democrats of this city who have declared for Garfield, but their publication is withheld for the present. Mr. Bruce tried to avoid publicity in connection with this matter, but his prominence is such that the circumstance could not be kept private.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

THE "great Democratic victory" in Alabama was wholly in keeping with the methods by which the fraud party has obtained and is keeping control of the Solid South. At one polling place (McGhee's Station) where the Republicans poll about 600 votes and the Democrats 50, the returns were doctored by having the lights put out while the votes were being counted. The Republican inspector—an old negro—put his hand out to be sure that the ballot box was not removed during darkness and found that it was gone. When the light was restored it was found that the box was filled with new ballots and that the old ones were scattered all over the floor. By this means a precinct actually giving 500 Republican majority was reported as giving 450 Democratic majority. The old colored inspector, who protested against the fraud, was driven out of the room and not permitted to remain during the rest of the count. By similar practices, Montgomery county, which is fairly Republican by 3,000 majority, was given to the Democrats. The Democrats had deliberately prepared for preventing any inquiry into the frauds by providing at the last session of the Legislature that the tickets should no longer be numbered. Such practices as these are what the Democrats rely on not only for disenfranchising the colored Republicans of the south, but for neutralizing the Republican votes of the north.

THE election in Louisville must have been a very disgraceful affair, even for a southern Democratic city. The Louisville Courier-Journal will not be charged with exaggeration in this connection, and it thus describes the event: "Yesterday's election was, in the main, a disgrace to the city. It was both turbulent and corrupt. Money was used freely and openly, and, to the extent of their means, by all the candidates. There were a great number and variety of shindies; heads broken, noses mashed, eyes gouged, hair pulled, and occasionally a pistol shot and a knife thrust. On the whole, the day, though not tragical, was discreditable in the last degree. Demoralization ruled the roost and rascals were rampant." After referring briefly to the candidates chosen for the various offices, the editor adds: "All these gentlemen are acceptable. But it is a subject of regret that the election, everybody included, was a travesty upon decency. Ignorance, bribery, bad blood, all the venal viciousness which a city is able to produce, prevailed; and, though results undoubtedly represent the popular will, they were reached through such nastiness as sickens and disgusts the sober, reflecting mind. May we never see such another day!"

IT turns out the Baroness Burdett-Coutts is going to be married after all, and, like George Elliot, to an affectionate groom some thirty years younger than herself. She loses a large portion of her income by this step, but there is enough left to make it worth while for the ambitious young man to wed her and her fortunes.

THE Republican party never gained a victory through any but positive men and measures. Neutrality, conservatism and independents stand in the way of its success, and as they are not its outspoken friends must be its declared enemies.

Singular Friendship.

Mr. Adams, of Van Shaick Island, says the Troy Press, is the possessor of a bay horse and black Newfoundland dog, who have formed a wonderful attachment for each other. They are inseperable companions, and one is not easy if the other is out of its sight for a moment. Whether in the stable or the pasture the dog sleeps with his equine companion. If the horse is harnessed the dog is on the alert and follows wherever driven, and when the horse stops the dog is close at his head, and it is a pleasure to witness them exchange caresses. The horse will scratch the dog's back with his teeth, which delights him greatly, and in turn the horse's face gets a thorough smoothing from the tongue of the dog. Sometimes in sport the horse will seize the dog by the nape of the neck with his teeth and raise him in the air, but the dog does not whimper, but watches his opportunity to give the ear of the horse a pinch with his teeth. They will fight for each other wickedly. If the dog is attacked by other canines he seeks shelter under the horse, and the teeth and feet of the animal are active in his defense. What the result will be if one of these devoted friends should die before the other is a matter of some concern, as the owner prizes both very highly.

SUMMARY OF THE NEWS.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., August 3.—In the West End yesterday James Curran shot his wife, Maria, to whom he has been married fifteen years, dangerously, through the left lung. Curran always treated his family well until four years ago. Then he began to show signs of insanity, and in some way got the idea that his wife was unfaithful. At length she had him arrested and tried for lunacy, and he was declared sane by the jury. Immediately after the trial he quit the city, leaving his wife and children. Yesterday morning he arrived from Chicago and went home. He said to his wife: "I wish you wouldn't be tormenting me so every night." "Why, Jim," she replied, "I've been working all the time here at home." He then put his hand in his pocket and pulled out a pistol. The frightened woman ran out of the door, closely followed by her husband, who began firing at her, the third shot striking her in the side. He is about 35 years old, well dressed, and looks more like a clerk than a laborer. He said the reason he left his wife four years ago was because he found she was a bad character. "She has been tormenting me all the time I was at Chicago. She was not there, but she bewitched me."

BUFFALO, Aug. 3.—The investigation of the charges against Rev. Edwin P. Adams, of Dunkirk, for holding and teaching doctrines contrary to those of the Holy Scriptures, as set forth in the confession of faith of the Presbyterian church, was begun by the Presbytery of Buffalo, in the Central church, this morning. The attendance of ministers and laymen was large. The charge entered against Mr. Adams is that he preached sermons renouncing the doctrines of everlasting punishment, such sermons being published in the Rochester papers. Also that in a published sermon he affirmed that there is no distinction between saints and sinners, on which the doctrine of retribution is grounded, and which is insisted on in the confession of faith. Mr. Adams entered a plea of technically not guilty. The defence was accorded their usual hearing, and it was finally decided that the Presbytery postpone final action until the next stated meeting, which will be held in Westfield in September.

EASTON, Pa., August 3.—About 1 o'clock yesterday morning Michael Little, of Newark; a man named Morris, of Paterson, N. J., and another "rough," boarded a Morris Canal boat, lying at one of the Glendon furnaces. On the boat were Mr. Blauverlt, a boy driver and Mrs. Annie Blauverlt. The ruffians drew their pistols, drove Mr. Blauverlt and the boy on deck, where they were carefully guarded by one of the men while the other two committed a criminal outrage on Mrs. Blauverlt. The guards were then changed, and the third man outraged the woman. After the wife had sufficiently recovered to walk she, in company with her husband, went before a justice of the peace, when a description of the culprits was given, and a warrant issued for their arrest. Little and Morris were arrested, and having acknowledged committing the crime they were sent to jail. The lady is 26 years old, and resides at Rockaway, N. J. Great excitement prevailed among the boatmen, and threats of lynching were made.

LAKE MAITLAND, Fla., July 27.—Henry Stokes, white, was hanged in Orlando, Orange county, on the 23d inst., for the murder of a white woman named Lovely Glisson last spring. He was convicted at the summer term of our Circuit Court. Stokes lay in ambush for his victim, and shot her as she was returning from a walk with another man. He was very cool and self-possessed on the scaffold, laughing, shaking hands with relatives of his victim, and acquaintances, and saying he hoped he would meet them in a better world, and sometimes shedding tears. The body was left hanging for sixteen minutes, and was then cut down, after which the Sheriff had the gallows cut down. This is the first hanging that has occurred in this part of South Florida. There were about 300 spectators, and all were quiet and orderly.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 3.—A captive balloon, well inflated, that had been used here for short excursions, broke loose on Saturday afternoon and started skyward. In the basket were two persons, Mr. Henry, the owner of the air ship, and a woman. A cry of terror arose from the spectators as the air ship darted upward with marvelous rapidity, and the occupants of the car, when they realized that they were ascending, gesticulated piteously to the crowd below, as though imploring assistance. The balloon went up to a great height, and then disappeared in a northearsterly direction. Despatches were sent to all towns lying northeast of here to keep a lookout for the balloon. Word came to day that the balloon landed all right six miles from this place. Neither of the occupants was hurt.

DANVILLE, Va., August 4.—Last Wednesday night the track of the Piedmont Railroad was obstructed by cross-ties fastened upon it for the purpose of wrecking the train at an exceedingly dangerous point, known as the State-line trestle, seven miles south of Danville. The northward bound mail train, crowded with passengers, made a miraculous escape from destruction. The railroad authorities employed detectives to ferret out the guilty wretches, and yesterday Detective Wren, of Richmond, arrested two negroes employed as farm laborers near the scene, but who were formerly section hands on the railroad. The evidence against them is said to be conclusive. Their motive is said to be revenge against the section master for having discharged them from their railroad employment.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 27—Via Havana, August 3.—The disorders and revolts reported recently from various parts of the republic, though inspiring no serious fears, continue notwithstanding the assertion that all is quiet. The opposition enraged at General Gonzalez's success, calls President Diaz a bloody despot and predicts that Gonzalez will be a worse one. The situation of the country is confused and undefined. President Diaz has called General Gonzales to the Capitol. The late disorders at Mazatlan were serious. A regular battle was fought at Villa Union between 500 Pronunciados with four cannons, with General Vamirez at their head, and 250 Government troops under command of Colonel Reyes. The killed on both sides numbered 100. The rebels retired, leaving two of their cannon. President Diaz has created Colonel Reyes a brigadier general as a reward for his victory.

EASTON, Pa., August 4.—It has been learned that the three men who outraged Mrs. Blauvelt on Sunday night, were Michael Little, Jack Saddle, of Paterson, and William Erwood, of Bridgton, N. J. Little, the ringleader, is in jail. The man Morris, arrested with him, has been discharged. Erwood was so hotly pursued by the police last night that he swam the Delaware river from the Jersey shore to the Pennsylvania side and hid in the woods. He discarded all his clothing but a shirt when preparing to swim. Both he and Saddle are still at large. The men laid their plot on Saturday night at Fort Delaware, where they had seen Mrs. Blauvelt on the boat as it passed through. They recognized her as a strange woman on the canal. Mrs. Blauvelt had only accompanied her husband on this trip out of curiosity to see the canal life and to see the scenery. Her home in Paterson is said to be a very pleasant one. Little has made overtures to settle the matter, but his efforts are fruitless, the husband and wife being determined to push the ravishers to the extreme limit of the law.

WASHINGTON, August 4.—Judge Roach, a prominent Democrat of Indiana, and a former law partner of Senator McDonald, is in town, and talks freely about the political situation in his State, although he declares that the Democrats are going to carry it. He makes admissions of Republican strength which are hardly consistent with the claim. "We feel confident of carrying the State," he says, "but we have got the hardest fight on our hands we have ever had. The Republicans start in this year in better trim than they were when they ended the campaign of 1876, and they are confident. They do not count upon winning any recruits from the Democrats. Their calculation of success is based upon the Greenback vote in 1878. The Greenbackers cast in round numbers 39,000 votes. The Republicans calculate that 26,000 of that number came from their party, and 13,000 from ours; that this year those voters will fall back into their old parties, and therefore the Republicans will get two to our one." The Judge says he talked with Landers and Voorhees, and both believe "we are sure to win, but we have a desperate fight on hand. Our folks appreciate the fact that the Republicans mean to carry the State in October if energy can do it, and therefore the Democrats are working with all their might."

LANCASTER, Aug. 4.—A horrible death from hydrophobia occurred in this city about 9 o'clock this evening. The victim was an 8-year-old girl, daughter of John Booth, living on Poplar street. She was bitten on Saturday, June 12, while going to a farmer's residence, near the city limits, for milk for her parents. Although the owner of the dog observed that he ate meat and drank water on the day he bit the child, yet his conduct was rather singular in other respects, and on the following day he tore loose, ran to a neighbor's and died. The little girl was treated by a physician at once, and apart from suffering a good deal of pain from the wound, which was on her wrist, she did not complain. On last Sunday morning she was found lying in an entry asleep, and with a raging fever. The fever remained unbroken until Monday morning, when she ran into the entry, gave a terrible scream and fell over insensible. Soon after this she began barking like a dog, and bit at every object near her. When they attempted to give her medicine she bit at the spoon, and although three experienced physicians were summoned, they failed to relieve her. The waving of a handkerchief or the sight of water threw her into violent spasms, but during the intervals between the spasms she was fully conscious, recognizing every one about her, and saying that she knew a mad dog had bitten her. She died in very great agony.

TRENTON, N. J., August 5.—Goldsmith Maid's eldest colt killed herself last night. In trying to jump a a fence she fractured her shoulder blade. Mr. H. N. Smith, the owner, refused an offer of $20,000 for her some time ago. This was a sad mishap, as the colt was a fine specimen of horseflesh, and gave promise of being, in the near future, classed among the fast trotters now upon the turf.

MOBILE, August 5—All the reports show an immense Democratic vote. There was no regularly organized opposition in three-fourths of the counties, and Democrats contesting for county offices with each other brought out all the votes. The Democratic State Ticket received the benefit of this great local struggle, and will have a majority of over 60,000. The Greenback-Independent party were thoroughly organized in but one portion of the State, and that was in the counties composing the district now represented by Congressman Lowe, a Greenbacker—Madison, Limestone and Morgan—which gave him majorities two years ago, give handsome Democratic majorities this year, and the Greenback State and county tickets will probably be defeated in every county of the district. The Democrats will elect all the judges and chancellors, and nearly all the Legislators and county officers.

RICHMOND, Aug. 5.—The following comes from an authentic source at Charlotte, N C.: At Tyro, a little village in Davidson county, Mr. Uriah Phelps has has a store. A few nights since he had a difficulty with some negroes, whom he and his brother attempted to eject from the house. Anticipating further difficulty with them, he secured the service of Mr. O. W. Click, a young man who lives in the neighborhood, who is in the habit of walking in his sleep. They lay in the store and watched for half the night, and finally fell asleep, having stretched themselves across a bed. It appears from subsequent developments that Click, the somnambulist, got up and seizing and axe that had been placed near the bed to be used in case of an emergency, dealt his bed fellow two blows across the neck, completely severing his head from his body.

BRADFORD, Pa., August 5—The United Lines have completed the laying of three-inch pipe from the Bradford region to Parker City. Oil can now be transported in pipes from the Bradford field to Pittsburg and Cleveland at the rate of 8,000 barrels a day. This new line will also give the United Pipe Company the use of 1,250,000 barrels of empty iron tankage in the lower oil country. This afternoon workmen dug a trench under a 25,000 barrel iron tank near a village on the State line, three miles north of Bradford, to repair a leak. The tank was rather old and contained 20,000 barrels of oil. Shortly before dark last evening the tank burst a leak and the great body of oil rushed out and on to the surface of Tuna creek. Thence it was carried by the stream to the Allegheny river, down which it is mostly all now flowing. The mishap created great alarm in the village of State Line lest the oil should take fire. To avoid such a result the fire in every house was extinguished, and the citizens of the village at midnight were in fear lest some malicious person should fire the oil. A number of men are guarding the stream for miles, to prevent such action. The tank was owned by the United Line.

AMERICUS, Ga., August 6.—Webster county, twenty miles west of this place, and the scene of the hanging of Miss Susan Eberhart (white), in 1873, for the murder of Mrs. Spann, is again the scene of a sickening tragedy in which a mother destroyed herself and attempted the lives of her nine children. Last evening, at six o'clock, Woodson L. Gunnells, a well-to-do farmer, left home to visit a sick neighbor, and returning at ten o'clock found his wife and nine of his ten small children in a horrible sleep from the effects of morphia administered in lemonade by Mrs. Gunnells. There is no doubt that she prepared and administered the beverage to her children and drank of it herself with fatal intent. Mrs. Gunnells, who is of a highly respectable family, died in about four hours after taking the drug, but it is thought the children will recover.

NORWICH, Conn., August 6.—As the one o'clock train from New London to Norwich was standing on the track at Thomas Grove yesterday afternoon it was run into by a freight train coming up behind it. The freight train was moving slowly, but the shock drove in the head of the boiler, and the escaping steam instantly filled the rear passenger car. No one was fatally injured, but a considerable number were wounded. The engineer of the passenger train let on steam when he perceived the freight coming up, but the train was struck before he could get away. It is said that the jar threw him and his fireman from the engine; at any rate the engine became detached from the train and ran on alone to this city, where it crashed into an empty caboose and stopped.

PITTSBURG, August 6.—The sensation of the hour in business circles here is the failure of Reese Owens, one of our heaviest pork dealers. His liabilities are estimated at $100,000. He has paper in most of the banks, but it is all protected, and they will not lose a cent. His heaviest indorser is Wm. B. Hays who is in the same business, and has backed him to the extent of $100,000. Hays is very wealthy and can stand it, even if he should lose it all. Other creditors lose in sums of $5,000 and $10,000. This is the second time he has failed.

ANNOUNCEMENT.—LIFE OF

Gen. James A. Garfield

The well known publishing house of Hubbard Bros., Philadelphia, have in preparation, and will soon issue, the Life of General James A. Garfield, written by his comrade in arms and personal friend, General J. S. Brisbin, of the Regular Army. The career of our distinguished candidate has rarely been equaled in points of romantic interest, and the more closely it is studied the more wonderful and inspiring it appears. It furnishes material for a volume of deep and permanent interest and value. We are glad that its preparation has been placed in hands so competent. The brilliant qualities of General Brisbin, both as a soldier and an author, are well known, and his personal relations to General Garfield are such as will give to his narrative the utmost fullness and authority of statement. It will be a book of more than passing interest, and in this respect widely different from ordinary campaign literature. It will be sold only by subscription, and must meet with a very large sale.

A Gentleman of La Porte.

He was also a pioneer. A party who broke through the snows of '51 and came upon the triangular little valley afterwards known as La Porte found him the sole inhabitant. He had subsisted for three months on two biscuits a day and a few inches of bacon in a hut made of bark and brushwood. Yet when the explorers found him he was quite alert, hopeful and gentlemanly. But I cheerfully make way here for the terser narrative of Captain Henry Symes, commanding the prospecting party: "We kem upon the gentlemen, sudden-like, jest abreast of a rock like this"—demonstrating the distance—"ez near ez you be. He sees us and dives into his cabin and comes out agin with a tall hat—a stovepipe, gentlemen—and, blank me, gloves! He was a tall thin feller, holler in cheek—ez might be—and off color in the face, ez was nat'ral, takin' in accounnt his starvation grub. But he lifts his hat to us so, and sez he: 'Happy to make your acquaintance, gentlemen! I'm afraid you ex-perienced some difficulty in getting here. Take a cigyar.' And he pulls out a fancy cigagar-case with two real Havanas in it. 'I wish there was more,' sez he.

'Ye don't smoke yourself?' sez I.

'Seldom,' sez he, which war a lie, for that very afternoon I seed him hangin' onto a short pipe like a suckin' baby onto a bottle. 'I kept these cigyars for any gentlemen that might drop in.'

'I reckon ye see a great deal of the best society yer,' sez Bill Parker, starin' at the hat and gloves and winkin' at the boys.

'A few Indians occasionall,' sez he.

'Injins!' sez I.

'Yes. Very quiet good fellows in their way. They have once or twice brought me game, which I refused, as the poor fellows have had a pretty hard time of it themselves.'

'Now, gentlemen, we was, ez you know, rather quiet men—rather peaceable men; but—hevin' been shot at three times by these yar good Injins, and Parker hisself havin' a matter of three inches of his own scelp lyin' loose in their hands and he going round wearin' green leaves on his head—it did seem as if this yer stranger was playin' it rather low down on the boys. Bill Parker gets up and take a survey o' him an' sez he, peaceful like:

'Ye say these yar Injuns—these yer quiet Injuns—offered yer game?'

'They did!' sez he.

'And you refoosed?'

'I did,' sez he.

'Must hev made 'em feel bad—sorter tortered their sensitiv feeling,' sez Bill.

'They really seemed quite disappointed.'

'In course,' sez Bill. 'And now mite I ask you who you be?'

'Excuse me,' says the stranger, and darn my skin if he doesn't hist out a card case, and handin' it over to Bill, sez, 'Here's my card.'

'Bill took it and read out loud, 'J. Trott, Kentucky.'

'It's a pooty card,' sez Bill.

'I'm glad you like it,' says the stranger.

'I recon the tha other fifty-one of the deck ez as pooty—all of 'em, Jacks and left bowers,' siz Bill.

'The stranger sez nothin, but kinder draws back, but Bill ups and sez:

'Wot is yer little game, Mister J. Trott, of Kentucky?'

'I don't quite understand you,' sez the stranger, a fire comin' into his face ez if he was the bowl of a pipe.

'What's this yet kid glove bizness—this yer high hat paradin? Wot's it about? Who are ye, anyway?'

The stranger stands up and sez he, 'Ez I don't quarrel with guests on my own land, I think you'll allow I am a gentleman,' sez he.

With that he takes off his hat and turns away; but Bill lites out on a sudden with his right foot and drives his No. 10 boot clean through the crown of that hat like one o' them circus hoops.

'That's about ez fur ez I rem'mber. Gentlemen! thar warn't but one man in that hull crowd ez could actooally swear what happened next, and that man never told. For a kind of whirlwind jest then took place in that valley. I disremember anything but dust and bustlin.' Thar wasn't no yelling, thar wasn't no shootin.' It was one of them sudden things that left even a six-shooter out in the cold. When I kem to in the chapparel—being oncomfortable like from hevin' only half a shirt on—I found nigh on three pounds o' gravel and stones in my pockets and a stiffness in my h'ar. I looked up and sees Bill hanging' in the forks of a hickory saplin' twenty feet above me.

'Cap,' sez he, in an inquirin' way, has the tornado passed?'

'Which?' sez I.

'This yer elemental disturbance—is it over?'

'I reckon,' sez I.

'Because,' sez he, 'before this yer electrical phenomenon took place I hed a slight misunderstanding with a stranger, and I'd like to apologise.'

'And with that he climbs down, peaceful like, and goes into the shanty, and comes out hand-in-hand with that stranger, smilin' like an infant. And that's the first time, I reckon, we know'd anythin' about the Gentleman of La Porte.'

THOUGH but a month old, the Democratic boom which came forth with such a flutter is dying out. Like the boy's toy air balloon, it has evaporated and exhausted itself.

Fashion Notes.

Very small bonnets worn on the back of the head are again in vogue.

Buttons on boots worn with fancy costumes match those on the suit.

Laces embroidered with metals will be among imported fall novelties.

Petticoats are made wider to fill the fuller skirts of the dresses now worn.

Ladies who have gray hair do not conceal it, using neither dyes, pomatum nor caps.

Cords will play an important part in the trimmings of dresses and wraps this fall.

New reticules to match dresses are richly trimmed with gathered lace, cords and tassels.

Evening dresses are worn at the moment in Paris with high necks and short sleeves.

It is again fashionable to wear the hair in coils, in which strings of pearls are twisted.

Smooth coiffures and flat waves, bangs and creve cœur locks are the rule in hair dressing.

Natural or very fine artificial flowers are worn in the hair to match those worn in the corsage.

Among Parisian caprices are large double collars on many dresses prepared for early fall wear.

Dresses made of cretonnes, with large figures, in other words, curtain calicoes, are again in vogue.

The corset cover, the chemise and the petticoat are all combined in one garment in new underwear for fall.

Fancy reticules, worn at the elbow, are decorated with all kinds of metallic and enamel insects and reptiles.

Low coiffures are most in favor, but short women or those with round faces still wear the hair dressed high.

Two corsage bouquets are worn one on the left side of the neck, the other far back and high on the left side of the neck.

New night robes have large full sleves shirred in at the armhole, and shirred a'so at the wrist to a narrow embroidered cuff.

High coiffures are no longer formed by braids or puffs, but with soft waves of hair arranged in loops on the crown of the head.

Fichu collarettes are worn by older young ladies, while misses in their teens affect large square collars such as little children wear.

Ladies who are threatened with baldness or thin hair on the top of the head can sometimes arrest the misfortune by clipping off the hair on the top of the head, and brushing it smooth, so as not to show the shingling.

The fashionable colors for early fall wear are pheasant red; tete de faisan; false blue, lapis; rouge de Venice, tawney red, and various shades of metallic, olive and bottle green, and for evening the glaucus green of marsh grasses.

Wagner Wants to Immigrate.

CINCINNATI, August 2.

The information comes from Boston that Richard Wagner has written a letter to a gentleman in that city, probably Mr. Lang, who has been in correspondence with Hans von Wolzogen, Wagner's nearest friend, for some time, in which he makes this singular proposition: If a million of dollars shall be subscribed in this country and paid to him in cash and securities, he will agree to come to America and stay, produce all his operas, and devote his future life and work to this country. These are rather vague terms of the unique proposition as they have been reported. Until the letter itself is given to the public it will of course be impossible to tell exactly what the German musician means—whether the million of dollars is simply a personal bonus for taking up his residence here during the few remaining years of his life (he is now sixty-seven, and always in bad health), or whether it is to be also the capital for the opera enterprise in which he proposes to embark, does not appear. If the former, it is not likely to meet with serious consideration; if the latter, it is not entirely improbable that men might be found in the east who would consider Wagner's opera, with the composer himself as the chief attraction, a speculation that would justify even the extravagant outlay of $1,000,000. The likelihood, however, is that the first idea is the real one. Nothing will come of it of course—though from many things of recent occurrence it would not be wise to predict that Wagner will not come to this country soon in some capacity. There is abundant evidence that he has had his eye on America ever since the financial failure of his Baireuth festival. Since then he has staggered under a crushing load of liabilities, and there is no prospect of relief in Europe. His projected second festival went by the board for lack of interest, and it is exceedingly questionable whether the new plan projected a few months ago, and communicated to Mr. Lang, of Boston, by Hans von Wolzogen, will be carried out. Wagner evidently has the popular German idea that money can be had for the picking up in the United States; that we live in a Utopia like that of the early German immigrants dreamed of, where roast fowl flew about with silver-plated knives and forks protruding from them, and begging to be eaten.

Young Republicans in Line.

On Saturday evening the young Republicans of the borough between the ages of 21 and 40, met in the Republican club room in the Arcade building for the purpose of perfecting their organization to be known as the Young Men's Republican Club, to form one company of the Garfield and Arthur campaign club.

Mr. George Wolf called the members to order and stated the object of the meeting. A committee was then appointed on permanent organization to report immediately. While the committee was out the time was taken up in speech-making, A. A. Dale, John C. Miller, S. D. Gray and S. D. Ray making brief but able addresses.

The committee on permanent organization reported the following officers, who were unanimously elected by acclamation:

President: Harry S. Hale.
First Vice President: W. I. Fleming.
Second do.: A. A. Dale.
Secretary: John I. Irwin.
First Assistant: J. C. Brachbill.
Second Assistant: Chas. Richards.
Treasurer: Clement Dale.
Captain: George H. Wolf.
First Lieut.: Michael Cooney.
Second do.: Hayes Schroyer.

On motion the following committees from the different wards were appointed to enlist all young men under forty years of age under the banner of Garfield and Arthur.

North Ward: W. B. Rankin, J. K. McFarlane, John C. Miller.
South Ward: M. Cooney, J. C. Brachbill, J. H. Crissman.
West Ward: J. D. Geisenger, Hayes Schroyer, S. D. Gray.

After considerable discussion Geo. H. Wolf moved that the uniform of the club be red caps and capes, each member to carry a torch, which was unanimously agreed to.

S. D. Ray, George H. Wolf and Cyrus Weaver were appointed a committee of three to procure the above equipments as soon as possible.

Chairman Rankin was present and addressed the club, telling the members what would be expected of them and how to work when the battle begins in order to accomplish the most good.

John G. Love, Esq., also delivered an encouraging address to the boys.

Now that the club is organized and officered nothing remains but to close up the ranks and advance. Never before have the young Republicans of the party in the borough of Bellefonte entered so enthusiastically upon a campaign which promises great and good results at the November elections.

—Here is the best receipt we have come across for picnic lemonade: First get your barrel. Then fill it with water. Don't be mean, put in plenty of water. Now throw a pound of white sugar into the barrel. Squeeze in a large sized lemon. Don't be mean about the lemon, but put the whole of it into the barrel. Stir with a long pole, and call the children up immediately. As fast as they drink fill the barrel with cold water. Have two stout men to haul water all day. The beverage thus made is cheap (if the lemon is bought at wholesale) and is quite healthy.

—Among Monday's callers at this office was our distinguished visitor, Mr. Francis Murphy, in company with ex-Mayor Lyon. We found the great leader of the temperance host a pleasant and entertaining conversationalist, and from his words and manner it is plain to be seen that his heart is in the great work in which he is engaged. We hope his duties while among us will not confine him so closely but that he will find time to again cross our sanctum threshold.

—In speaking of the Democratic meeting at Milesburg on Saturday evening, July 31st, the Watchman says "a procession was formed four abreast and nearly a mile long." Great snakes, what a whopper! Those who saw the procession will come to the conclusion that the author of that article imbibed something stronger than "Tanner cocktails" on the night in question, which caused his optics to magnify everything that came in range just about nine times.

--The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held at the residence of Mrs. Jno. T. Johnston on Friday evening last. The meeting was largely attended, and the exercises were of special interest. The proceedings of the meeting were made unusually interesting by some very entertaining vocal music by Mrs. R. A. Mager and Mrs. Thos. R. Hayes.

—Mr. J. K. Rhodes, Secretary of the Juniata Valley Camp-meeting Association, announces that all goods for tent holders will be carried free on Tuesday, August 10th, and returned free on Friday, August 20th. The patrons of the camp will no donbt avail themselves of this liberal arrangement.

Another Meeting of Policy Holders of the Lycoming Insurance Co.

In pursuance with action of previous meeting the policy holders of the Lycoming Fire Insurance Co., resident in Bellefonte and vicinity, met in the Court House on Friday at 10 o'clock a. m. The meeting was called to order by A. O. Furst. On motion John Irwin, Jr., was elected permanent chairman. George L. Potter, of Bellefonte, and D. F. Good, of Lock Haven, were chosen secretaries, and Adam Hoy treasurer. The meeting was largely attended, many policy holders from a distance being present, and a very great interest was manifested in the deliberations. Able speeches were made by A. O. Furst, D. S. Keller, E. Blanchard and Adam Hoy, Esq'rs., and others, and one or two heated discussions took place, in which the company was censured in strong terms for its mismanagement, and for allowing such a crooked state of affairs as now exists to come about. We have not the space for the publication of the proceedings in detail, but the actual work accomplished by the meeting is embodied in the following resolutions, which were read and adopted:

WHEREAS, The Lycoming Fire Insurance Co., at Muncy, Pa., has become so deeply involved in debt and so embarrassed in all its operations that it has no longer ability or means to successfully carry on the business for which it was incorporated; and,

WHEREAS, Its further continuance in business would be a serious detriment and loss to its members, and without prompt action to avert the same the Company must inevitably be placed in the hands of a receiver; therefore, be it

Resolved, 1st, That we, the Mutual policy holders of the Lycoming Fire Insurance Co., in the State of Pa., recommend that said Insurance Co. go into immediate liquidation; to accomplish this end, that all assets and assessments due the said company be collected as rapidly as possible; that the same be applied to the discharge of all legal liabilities of the company, under the supervision of some responsible person selected by the said policy holders.

2d. That all cash policies be immediately cancelled, and all mutual policies at the earliest day practicable.

3d. That in order to carry into effect the first resolution above set forth some of the principal officers of said company, namely, the Secretary or President, be requested to resign, so that his place may be filled by the election of the person chosen or nominated by the said policy holders.

4th. That the person so selected shall have full power and authority to examine into all accounts of said company, and that no payment be made without his consent, unless the same shall have been or hereafter shall be adjudicated by a competent legal authority.

5th. That as soon as practicable the real and personal estate of said company shall be sold, and the net proceeds be applied to the payments of the debts of said company.

6th. That as early as practicable all affairs of the company shall be closed and the premium notes of the policy holders shall thereupon be cancelled.

7th. That the person so chosen to superintend the settlement of the affairs of said company shall be entitled to a reasonable compensation.

8th. That all Directors of the company who are solicitors or attorneys for the company, or agents or collectors, be requested to resign, so that their places may be filled by persons immediately representing the policy holders.

9th. That should the officers of the Company reject this recommendation the committee heretofore appointed shall be appointed by the policyholders to institute legal proceedings against the company to have a Receiver appointed to settle up the affairs of the company and take such other measures as will lead to that result.

Mr. Blanchard moved that at the earliest time practicable the committee lay these resolutions before the Board of Directors, which was carried.

The following resolution, offered by Mr. Lloyd, was defeated:

Resolved, That the officers and managers of the company be requested to call a general meeting of the stockholders at the earliest moment, at Muncy, to take action as to the further management of the company's business.

—Mr. C. H. Geisse and family, of Philadelphia, after a month's sojourn at the Chincleclamoose House, Snow Shoe, have arrived in town and taken rooms at the Brockerhoff House, expecting to remain several weeks. Mr. Geisse spent the summer season in Bellefonte two or three years ago, with his pleasant wife, and their numerous friends hereabouts will be glad to learn of their return.

—An exchange warns the general public to be on guard against the rascal who calls at the homes of charitably inclined people and represents that a little child of his has just died, and that he is in such destitute circumstances as to prevent him from buying a coffin. His well-connected tale is so well-learned that it is enough to bring tears from the eyes of a brass monkey. Steer clear of him!

—At Sechler & Co.'s can always be found a full and complete stock of pure family groceries, and always fresh. No household should be without a supply of goods from this popular establishment.

Francis Murphy in Bellefonte.

Francis Murphy, the great temperance apostle and reformer, arrived in this place on Saturday evening, where he proposes to battle with old King Alcohol during the present week, or as long as he can be induced to remain with us.

He was met at the depot by a number of our prominent temperance men and waited upon to the Bush House, where he intends making his headquarters, we believe, during his stay. Mr. Murphy is a very pleasant and courteous gentleman, and desires to meet and converse with every one. He shakes hands with everybody he meets upon the streets—men, boys and even little children, and has a pleasant word for all. He looks upon every man as a friend and talks with a stranger with as much ease and unconcern as though he had known him from infancy.

Mr. Murphy conducted a large and interesting temperance meeting at the Court House Sunday night, his first appearance before a Bellefonte audience. The desire on the part of our citizens to see and hear the distinguished gentleman was very great and the building was filled to overflowing, many people coming in from the country and adjoining towns.

The meeting was opened by singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," by the choir, followed by Scripture reading and prayer, after which Mr. Murphy was introduced by Rev. J. P. Hughes, with a few appropriate remarks. From the time the speaker stepped down from the platform to the close of his address, which occupied about an hour and a half, the large audience paid the closest attention, seemingly determined that no word should escape them. Mr. Murphy began by telling of his early history and life—of his home in Ireland, which he described so vividly that his hearers could see in imagination his birthplace by the sea; of his mother, from whom he parted at the age of sixteen, and of his ocean voyage and arrival in the "Home of the free." He gave his early experience in this country, his downfall and ruin by strong drink, and his final restoration to manhood through the aid of a Christian stranger.

The gentleman is an impressive and forcible speaker, eloquent at times, pathetic at others, and always entertaining. The passage describing the parting scene with his mother on his departure for America was deeply affecting, as was also one or two others similarly depicted in the course of his remarks. At the conclusion of his address Mr. Murphy urgently appealed to those present to come forward and sign the pledge, particularly young men. Quite a number went forward to the desk and signed in response to the invitation, and a very large number did not. These, however, will have plenty of opportunities of doing so during the week. These meetings, presided over by Mr. Murphy, will be held every evening during the week at the Court House, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Now that the battle has begun let it be waged incessantly.

The audience which greeted Mr. Murphy Monday evening at the Court House at his second meeting was fully as large as on his first appearance—Sunday evening. At the time of opening the meeting every seat had been taken in the building. All the available standing room was also occupied, and the hallway partly filled.

The address delivered by Mr. Murphy was a masterly and eloquent appeal to those addicted to the use of strong drink to desert the fatal cup and once more be a man. During his remarks he related several highly amusing anecdotes, all having a most excellent moral. The gentleman talked for considerably over an hour and could easily have held the close attention of his audience for an hour longer.

Twenty-five or thirty signed the pledge at the close of the meeting, which shows that the speaker's words were not without their good effects, and that the good work is progressing finely.

—The following jurors have been drawn for the special term of the United States courts that convene in Williamsport, Pa., the present month: Traverse jury—William P. Furey, of Altoona; Andrew Foster, of Johnstown; S. T. Brown, of Huntingdon. Circuit court—George Stroop, of Tyrone; A. A. Adams, of Clearfield; John H. Fisk, of Cambria; C. W. Smith, of Clearfield; C. N. Bower, of Bellefonte. Grand jury—Clarence C. Barrett, of Clearfield; J. P. Gephart, of Bellefonte.

Bellefonte Academy—A School for Young Boys.

—Special provision is made this year for the careful training of young boys of from eight to twelve years of age. The number will be select, and bad boys will not be retained in the school. The Principal himself will render special assistance in the teaching of this department. We fully realize that this is the hopeful period in which we can do the best work for the young.

The Primary Department will be under the care of Mrs. E. C. Ogden, who, during the past two years, has proven herself so admirably adapted to the management and teaching of young children.

The Young Ladies' Department will be under the charge of Mrs. W. W. Robinson, who has already so worthily commended herself to the patrons of the Academy as the right teacher in the right place, and as the accomplished and experienced lady to whose faithful care and watchfulness parents may confidently commit the education of their daughters.

The Classical Department will be under the charge of Mr. Charles Heebner, whose classes at the last examination showed such thorough training, such finish and such proficiency, and whose teaching and discipline in the class room throughout the entire year proved him to be in talent, tact and culture a teacher of much more than ordinary rank.

The Mathematical and Bookeeping Classes will be under the care of the Principal, who will also carefully interest himself in all the departments and look after the needs of every pupil.

Under such favorable auspices we enter upon the twelfth year of our educational work in this community, and of all who can, in any measure, appreciate and estimate the advantages of having such a school at their own doors, we earnestly ask a hearty and living interest and co-operation in all that concerns the wellfare and prosperity of the Academy. The next session will open Wednesday, the first of September.

Colored Republicans to the Front.

The Colored Garfield and Arthur club met Monday evening at the club room, Abram Jackson in the chair. This meeting was one of the most interesting that our colored friends have had. Many of our citizens were present to hear able speeches from able speakers, and all present were carried away with the wave of enthusiasm which swept over the meeting. The speakers were Moses Pinckney, George Skinner, Thomas Pennington, James Carter and Mr. Stevenson. It is not too much to say these men all spoke from the heart, and spoke eloquently. Their whole souls are in this good work. We feel certain that on election day it can be said as it could be truly said in that elder day when treason settled down upon the country like a black pall, "There are no traitors under a black skin." The colored people of Bellefonte stand shoulder to shoulder for Garfield and Arthur.

Ex-Gov. Bigler Dead.

Ex-Gov. Bigler, who had been in precarious health for quite a lengthy period, died Monday morning at his home in Clearfield. For the benefit of those of his friends in this vicinity who might wish to attend we would state that the funeral will be held this (Wednesday) afternoon.

—On the farm of Mr. Robert Valentine, beyond the Boiling Springs, can be seen one of the finest-looking fields of tobacco in the county or State. Mr. William Lamison, of Clintondale, oversees and has charge of the farm, and the flourishing condition of this crop gives evidence of his thorough acquaintance with tobacco culture.

—Mr. George W. Washington, not he of Revolutionary fame, but an American citizen of African descent, has opened a new tonsorial establishment in McCafferty's Block, High street, for the benefit of our citizens. George is an elegant workman in his line, and our citizens should give him a hearty support.

—If you want to spend a pleasant week and enjoy the benefit of mountain air and scenery, and eat one of the best meals ever was cooked, visit the Chincleclamoose House, at Snow Shoe. Ed. Nolan and his estimable lady know how to make guests comfortable and happy.

—The fiftieth anniversary of the Centre Baptist Association will be held at Milesburg, this county, commencing on Wednesday, September 1st, and continuing three days. Rev. George Craft, of Huntingdon, will preach the doctrinal sermon.

—Republican campaign clubs were organized at Potters Mills, Unionville and several other places during the latter part of last week.

Examinations each day will commence at 9 a. m.; applicants will have to be present in time, and some of the directors should also be present in time to make out a list of applicants to be examined.

—Untaxed canines roam at liberty through our streets, and snap and snarl at the pedestrian who is unfortunate enough to have to travel about here. Several cases of parties being bitten by dogs have been reported to us, and though we have heard of no serious results as yet, there is no telling when we will receive such information. The effects of a bite from a dog is not always immediately felt. Days, months and years may elapse before the terrible poison, with which a dog inoculates the person he bites, does its deadly work. It is to be hoped that some means will be taken soon to put an end to these dirty pests that men keep around for no conceivable purpose.—[Pittston Press. The remarks of the Press are sensible and to the point. The same uncomfortable state of affairs exists in Bellefonte, and there seems to be no remedy for suppressing the evil.

—Some people think it strange that Harry Green has built up such an extensive cigar trade. But it isn't strange at all. The reason is this: He keeps the best cigars in this part of the country, and keeps up a judicious system of advertising.

—The bone and muscle producing malt, the nerve-quieting hop, the superb malarial antidote quinine, and other precious ingredients, combined without fermentation, are the ingredients of "Malt Bitters," prepared by the Malt Bitters Company. 30 3t
